The problem: Mark Morgan is a societal misfit. 200 posts per diem prove that.

Should have heard this shi+hole of a frequency today with the usual bunch of resident retards who set up shop here chasing away the CQWW DX clowntesters whenever they came within 5khz of the same. It didn't matter nobody was using the freq, just as long as they had an excuse to QRM the same whenever a clowntester came near.
Jeeze I wish that I had that much free time on my hands.
I'd love to see some photos of what some of the 14.275 morons look like, prolly all of 'em are fat bulbous middle-aged white trailer trash men who stay at home an let their wives work or are out on disability because they weigh 300+ pounds an eat at

4450. Life of a CIO in 2012

Business and IT are changing at a warp speed. IT leadership is on its toes playing catch-up with a mandate to make IT lean and do more with less. On top of that, we have the baby boomer exodus which will be leaving IT departments with an acute manpower crunch. If you are an over worked CIO who has had enough already, you can imagine work life 5 years from now. If you are a CIO aspirant, assess if this is still the job for you, and buckle up!

How we negotiate the IT services or software licensing related contracts has a significant impact on how IT meets "getting more done with less" expectations set by executive management. How do we plan and carry out such negotiations for success? Is outsourcing such contract negotiations a good option?

The physical abuse, your neglect to even feed the poor bastard, etc.
not to mention your theft of his money.

You claimed Roger was kicked off of Google, Marqueer......you were caught lying again.

http://www.arrl.org/?artid=7813

Hollingsworth to Stay Put at FCC (Oct 30, 2007) -- Riley Hollingsworth, Special Counsel for the FCC's Enforcement Bureau, has decided not to retire; he had announced last week that he would leave the FCC in January 2008. "After spending the entire weekend thinking about the decision [to retire], it became more and more clear to me that it just isn't the right decision for me right now. There are several issues on the table that I want to continue to work through with the amateur community." The Enforcement Bureau is the primary organizational unit within the Federal Communications Commission that is responsible for enforcement of provisions of the Communications Act, the Commission's rules, Commission orders and terms and conditions of station authorizations, as well as enforcement of Amateur Radio rules (Part 97).

Wrong guess, Marqueer. How can you even live with yourself?

Did you think up any believable excuses for leaving those bruises on your father during the doctor's visit the other day?

Poor spamming Marqueer so frustrated to be at the mercy of the world and it has no mercy for retards like him.

Welp, every LE seems to have a problem pissing people off. I think it just comes with the territory.

I recall saying to the FCC what I feared most about the restructuring was a lack of enforcement, and what I feared most about maintaining the status quo was a lack of enforcement. They need more enforcement, then maybe Riley would hang up his badge and play ham radio til he cashes in...

I've seen a few of the guys you are talking about. Quite a few of them have pictures on the web. On of the worst, is exactly as you described. Except for the trailer trash part. He's just a three hundred pound blob that has been sitting on his ass for years while his wife works full time. Then you never hear him after quitting time. Another of the miscreants lives in Michigan and sits on his morbidly obese ass all day. The guy from Florida is another morbidly obese tub of lard.
As far as some of the others, most of them have mental disabilities that preclude them from working anywhere or anger management issues which keeps them from working at the local fast food outlet. So you are correct sir.

4682. Todd Daugherty, N9OGL, receives FCC enforcement letter

In Message-ID: <todd.flirts.with.prison@houston-hunks.com>, posted last year on August 15th, I pointed out to Todd that his Omega One transmitter was almost certainly radiating too much power. I even supplied a back of the envelope calculation as proof.

It turns out that the FCC agrees with me and has sent and enforcement letter to Mr. Daugherty. The full text of the letter is at the FCC web site located here:

http://www.fcc.gov/eb/AmateurActions/files/Daugh07_11_01_1161.html

It says in part " ... Commission radio direction finding signals indicate that such transmissions were made form your location on 13.556 MHz at various dates in November 2006. This information raises serious questions regarding your qualifications to retain an Amateur license. Such unlicensed operation would also be a violation of Section 301 of the Communications Act of 1934, as amended, 18 U.S.C. S: 301, and would subject you to a monetary forfeiture (fine) or imprisonment, or both."

Todd has dug himself into a hole, no matter what he and one supporter have argued in this forum, and now he's going to pay the price.

Oh? What is implied by stating, "serious questions regarding your qualifications to retain an Amateur license."??? Had someone said to you that there are serious questions regarding your qualification to breath, you'd scream from every newsgroup that a threat upon your life was made...AND you'd pull out your "Lawbook for Dummies" and accuse that person of some sort of felony.

what ilgeal action even the FCC is not saying he did do anything ilegal

Todd is fine unles he replies with a truly wogerequse stupid ity as I suggestded on Nimbusters

a letter with something like the folowing in it

"I measured the ERP with a ma metter (insert make and model) and found the reuls to be ess than (insert the erp calulated for the band"

unless he FCC can prove otherwise that is about it your problem is that you are basicaly antiamerican particuarly opposed to the basis of our legal framework "ionnocent till proven guilty" hat is the onl reason woger retains a license and likely the only reason you do as well that and due process is why K1Man retains the legal ability to transmit with his call

RH is too timid going after real vioalators but he does respect this assepct of the law

Bottom line: People with mental problems, such as Mark and Todd, share a commonality. Mark, therefore, feels compelled to defend Todd even to the ridiculous point of calling somebody anti-american.
Now, had the scofflaw been Roger rather than Todd, Markie would be posting all over Usenet with flames accusing Roger of being a lawbreaker and Mark would be bleating that immediate legal action should be taken against Woger.
Bottom line. Mark is a hypocrite.

What would you call this, Mark? A get well card? Not only can you not spell, but you cannot read, either......To knowingly and willfully make any false statement or conceal any material fact in reply to this inquiry is punishable by fine or imprisonment.Such action may include license revocation, suspension of your operator privileges, or monetary forfeiture (fine). Fines normally range from $7,500 to $10,000.

Sincerely,

W. Riley Hollingsworth

grounding

chassis grounding is something I have neglected as a Hamm after it doesn't seem to help much at VHF plus ndeed most of my VHF gear can't be grounded very well

HF seems to be another story I found this out when I decided to ground my gear at the insistance of the intructions for the AL-811 amp.

I was shocked at the result. and then tried it on my older FT 847 which I had all but given up for dead at HF and the resulting improvement in prefrom was shocking

accordingly I have to suggest that no matter what your experences have been at

VHFplus with gound try it on mf and hf spectrum

from the ARRL letter
HAM RADIO IN SPACE: AMSAT SAYS HAM RADIO GEOSAT IN PLANNING

Its called Phase 4 Lite and it will likely change the face of ham radio forever. Amateur Radio Newsline's Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, has a peek at the future of a geosynchronous ham radio satellite in Earth orbit:

The weekend of October 26th to the 28th has likely changed the face of ham radio space operations. So say two leaders in the Amateur Radio space program speaking at the AMSAT-North America Space Symposium in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania. Thatï¿½s they announced that a first-ever geosynchronous ham radio satellite is now in its initial planning.

In satellite talk, geosynchronous means stationary in the sky. From the standpoint of a ground station user, it means always knowing where to point an antenna. No tracking and no guesswork.

At that gathering, AMSAT President Rick Hambly, W2GPS, and Vice-President of Engineering Bob McGwier,N4HY, announced that AMSAT has been in consultation with Intelsat. This, regarding an application of an Intelsat platform carrying amateur radio satellites into geosynchronous orbit.

The Phase IV Lite Geosynchronous Payload is planned to consist of similar transponders already under development for the Phase 3 satellites. Accelerated development on the digital Advanced Communication Package is anticipated. The Intelsat geosynchronous platform would be able to provide the AMSAT Phase IV Lite payload with approximately 400 watts of DC power for 15 years.

In addition to the on-orbit payload AMSAT plans to develop an earth station attainable by the average ham so that users can immediately take advantage of the audio, digital messaging, and video services of the Phase IV bird. The Advanced Communication Package would be a self-contained earth station which could be sent with amateur radio communication teams or delivered to disaster areas to provide for 24 hour a day, 7 day a week and 3565 days a year emergency communications. These teams would be able to point a small dish at a predictable spot in the sky and immediately begin delivering disaster communication support without depending on the vagaries of High Frequency propagation.

But thatï¿½s not all. Hambly and Mc Gwier say that the Phase IV payload could also be used to provide a Tracking and Data Relay System Satellite -like relay of ARISS communications. The current 10 minute school contact could now be expanded to hours-long contact with the International Space Station. This opens possibilities for extended student involvement with experiments aboard the space station.

As the late Roy Neal, K6DUE, might have said: Truly a new world of Amateur Radio.

For the Amateur Radio Newsline I'm Bruce Tennant, K6PZW, in Los Angeles.

You not only mortally wounded RRAP, but you single-handedly dragged it into the gutter.

No wonder others shy away and avoid RRAP.

And you wonder why decent folks give you the "Bum's Rush"?

4821. ANTENNA QUESTION

If you can't contribute anything positive to this question, then stay out of it, with your trash!

I have a 10m base loaded mag mount antenna, that I had to put a piece of felt over the magnet as not to scratch a new vehicle.

When I did this I apparently changed the capacitance between the mag mount and the roof of the vehicle. Someone suggested that I might want to replace the felt with either a large balloon or a large prophylactic as it is thinner and the capacitance would then return to almost where it should be.

Positive comments only!

Using the latter, at least you would insure the antenna would NOT become preggers! :-)

I would have thought that the felt would make the mag mount more likely to slip against the roof. You might not get any scratches, but you probably would be minus one antenna at the end of a fast drive.

I have had good results using strips of insulating tape or adhesive backed plastic type materials, similar to the stuff they print stickers on covering the magnet. For best results, you want a soft resiliant type of plastic, something that wont slip against the roof metal. Or have a look for some of that plastic sheet that sticks to glass and smooth surfaces and is used to secure licence or insurance details to car windscreens. That should protect your paintwork and be removable at a moments notice. A favourite trick for mincab or unlicensed cab drivers is to cover the antenna base with a stout sandwich bag and secure it in place with a plastic tie wrap. Take the antenna off the roof and no traces left behind.

Any of the above methods should work okay and they will all be a lot thinner than a piece of felt.

You are wasting your time trying to protect the paint when using a magnetic mount. Grit will find its way under your magnet, and within a year of normal driving, you will have scratched paint. Take a deep breath, get out the hole saw or metal punch, and punch a hole in your new car. Your radio will be happier and so will you as the paint around your antenna will not be subjected to the inevitable damage caused by magnet mounts. BTW, before anyone says anything about lowering the value of the vehicle, I've sold and traded-in multiple vehicles with holes punched in them, and not once has anyone ever said a word about the holes. When I trade it in, I just put in a rubber plug and no one notices.

However, if you have committed yourself to using a magnetic mount, I would suggest using ultra thin vinyl sheeting, this should give you enough grip to keep it on the vehicle. Nevertheless, anything that you use is going to require that you retune the antenna, a longer whip may be also be required because of the decreased capacitance.

Try some 3mil Teflon, Teflon has a very high capacitive coefficent.

Lose the magmount and drill a hole in your roof. When you sale your truck put a rbber plug in it made for that pupose. Has 0 effect on your resale value.

The thickness of the balloon will result in a much larger capacitance to the 'ground' plane counterpoise so it should be a big improvement over the felt.

I'm afraid you're misinformed. The dielectric constant of PTFE Teflon is 2.1, or just about twice that of air. Quite a few plastics are higher (e.g. Mylar at 3.2 and PVC around 3.5), and many materials, such as those used for capacitors, have dielectric constants that are a lot higher (e.g., barium titanate at 1500 - 2000). Of course, a lot of the latter aren't physically suited for this application. A long time ago, I had trouble with microstrip line dispersion in a high speed delay line compensation network design. So I chose Teflon for the substrate material because of its low dielectric constant. The previous design was on an alumina substrate having a dielectric constant of about 10.

The capacitance of two parallel plates is directly proportional to the dielectric constant and the plate surface area, and inversely proportional to the plate spacing. So putting 0.1 inch of Teflon between the plates gives you the same capacitance as putting the plates 0.05 inch apart with air between.

This isn't to say that Teflon might not be a good choice. It's a very low loss material, and chemically very inert. It's soft so won't scratch, but it's slippery which might be a disadvantage. It's also subject to cold flow, but there probably won't be enough pressure for that to be a problem.

But seems like teflon - being so slippery - would contribute to the antenna slipping off to roof.??

I think that when considering plastic and mica type materials for high capacitance values, component engineers do not necessarily look at dielectric constant as the most important property. Mylar, mica and polyethylene are common capacitor materials and have rather low dielctic constants just a little higher than teflon. What makes them most attractive is their ability to be manufactured in very thin sheets (increased C) and their high dielectric strengths (increased V ratings). Teflon is higher cost but is very good for high voltage ratings due to superior dielectric strength.

Aluminum and tantalum oxides tend to have very high dielectric constants due to the capability of these metal oxide molecules to store electrons. What is more desirable however is their property of being very thin. What makes them a problem is their relatively low dielectric strengths thus their low voltage ratings.

I've been down that road, too. The mag mount is OK for short term use, say for a day or so but it is not a good idea to leave one on the vehicle for any length of time. As Dloyd pointed out, grit WILL find a way to get under the mount and it WILL damage the paint. I learned the hard way that moisture will also linger under the mount and the paint will be further damaged. Then, too, is the possibility of the antenna striking branches, door tops and other low-hanging obstacles and when the magnet slides across the roof, guess what? You got it! More damage to the paint.

At VHF/UHF frequencies you will not see enough of a change in the standing wave to be concerned with if you use a buffer between the magnet and the body. It will be miniscule.
Dloyd is correct again when he advises you to do it the right way. Drill a hole. Mount the antenna and have fun.
Oh, as an addendum? I once had a magnetic mount antenna stolen from my car. It was a 2 meter quarter wave whip but that didn't phase the CBer who cut the coax and stole it. And before you jump on me and ask how I know it was a CBer, read on.
I had engraved part of my soc number on the underside of the antenna. I just happened to visit a local CB shop one afternoon and saw my antenna on a shelf and the owner of the shop told me it was for sale for five dollars. Without going into further detail, I arranged for a local detective to visit the shop and buy the antenna, whereupon the owner of the shop was promptly arrested for selling stolen property. The icing on the cake, so to speak, was when the detective discovered that the owner also had several stolen CB radios for sale as well. The CBer who stole the antenna was also caught and charged.

Actually, there are a lot more considerations yet. Some plastics are self-healing, so a momentary arc won't permanently destroy the capacitor. And some have exceptionally low leakage current. Various materials also have widely different temperature coefficients. In general, the very high k (dielectric constant) ceramics have higher temperature coefficients than lower k materials. Some ceramics, like the very high k ceramics used for Z5U and similar capacitors, are also hygroscopic, microphonic, piezoelectric, and their k varies with frequency and voltage. Many capacitors, depending largely on the dielectric, also have nonlinear properties such as "soak" (dielectric absorption) and "hook". Loss, expressed as loss tangent, ESR, or power factor, is also often an important consideration, and it can be very different for different dielectrics. Choosing the right capacitor for a particular job can be pretty demanding. This one, fortunately, is easier than some.

At least one dualband magmount, no longer offered by MFJ, came with an aluminum foil bottom. I have used several of them and seen no adverse effect on the paint -- and I whiz along at highway speeds a lot.

I used a 7" magmount for a 5/8 WL on 2m.
It had a rubber boot.
I used it most days to and from work, which involved putting it on and taking it off twice each day. And then there was other use.
Each time, before I put it on, I wiped the mounting spot (in the centre of the roof) with a soft rag (with maybe a bit of spit if nobody was looking).
Four years later, when I got rid of the car, the mounting spot was extremely highly polished, which (being a company car) is more than you could say for the rest it.

Maybe black, electrical tape on the bottom of the mag mount (applied to that mag mount, of course.) Would be thinner, but I suspect it might still cause some problems with increased capacitance. Count paint that mag mount base with liquid electrical tape, which I get at my local ACE Hardware store. But then, you could still get some grit underneath the mount. Saran Wrap? Very thin. Might be your best bet. Tough and flexible. Maybe that would help...

Good luck.

Interesting Ian,

I suppose the fact that you removed the antenna twice a day and wiped the spot made a substantial difference. In my experience, I did not remove the antenna daily, but as a lot of amateurs, I used the magnet mount in lieu of punching a hole. After a year, the paint had terrible scratches where the magnet had been placed. Nevertheless, this still does not solve John's problem with the detuning he is experincing when using a rubber boot or other protective device. What John does not say, and I would like to know, is why he is unable to retune the antenna to compensate for the change in capacitance. Will the antenna not resonate? or is there some physical limitation, such as the radiating element being too short, ect.

My Larsen mag mount came with a thin sheet of aluminum across the bottom. After much use, the aluminum started to tear. I replaced the factory aluminum with ordinary aluminum foil taped to the base. It's not as sturdy as the original but it costs virtually nothing to replace.

Consider drilling an NMO mount and get the Larsen whip for 27-30 MHz.

FYI Todd N9OGL is neither a friend nor an enemy of mine.... But, unlike most of the HAMereekan amateur radio community--especially

Brian is a psychotic CB'er with an amateur licence "managing" a handful of well-known mental-defectives running rampant on 14.275 MHz is a solution to the problem not a cause of problems, agree?

Just use a very thin piece of plastic. Some companies that make mag-mounts sell circular pieces with adhesive to stick to the antenna base. But you can just cut out a disk from a zip-lock bag and put underneath the magnet. It won't slip around.
The thicker the material, the more it affects the performance because it reduces the capacitance to the metal that the antenna is placed on.
Thinner is better here.
By the way, someone told me to try felt years ago, and I did. The antenna had more tendency to slip around, and it DID mar the paint on my car, more than if I hadn't used anything.
Last comment: a balloon would probably get water in it, and keep the antenna base wet for a long time after it rains (at least here in Portland where I live!) Not a great idea. And balloons aren't known for their tougness.

I wasn't implying that you should cut the element. What I was trying to understand/suggest, is whether the whip is too short already. Have you checked the antenna with an analyzer? Is it resonate anywhere on 10?

This is a good one. I will bet Mark fifty dollars that he is wrong. And my blog havs techical stuff to help other hams with there stations but i splell worse than seconcd grader this point of this blog will be to desemnate tips and tricks or other technical stuff I hope folks will find usefull butt i think you wil find it hard to read as i find it harder to write chassis grounding is something I have neglected as a Hamm after it doesn't seem to help much at VHF plus ndeed most of my VHF gear can't be grounded very well HF seems to be another story I found this out when I decided to ground my gear at the insistance of the intructions for the AL-811 amp.

I was shocked at the result. and then tried it on my older FT 847 which I had all but given up for dead at HF and the resulting improvement in prefrom was shocking accordingly I have to suggest that no matter what your experences have been at VHFplus with gound try it on mf and hf spectrum
I declred then I would see this sort of insanity stop even it destoryed the NG in question and I said we would all have equal access to that NG badly I must report both gaols as acheived because by reducing the ng to a total mire that nothing get thrugh

I wasn't going to get into these since ceramic was not a material of choice in this discussion. But yes, the highly doped Z5U's will give you a high C and low temp stability (and high "other" coefficients) while an NP0 pure ceramic will give you just the opposite (you will have one heck of a stable capacitor).

None of these dielectrics are immune to humidity absorption. They must all use a good non-hygroscopic outer casing material. The ability to withstand high humidity is not such much a property of the capacitor material as it is a property of the package that it comes in.

Usually, these considerations are most important when choosing large bulk or filter capacitors for inverter and power supply circuits. Who cares about the loss tangent of an EMC ceramic Y cap or a high frequency ceramic bypass cap? Or, for the "balloon" cap in question? For common capacitor materials typically used in those applications, they will not generally matter. But in the same sentence as "loss tangent" and "ESR", why use "power factor"? Would it be better tio say "dissipation factor" which emphasizes the ohmic loss rather than the reactice power characteristic?

Yes, we do not need to worry about the loss tangent, the dielectric contant, the dielectric strength, the ESR or the temperature coefficient of the balloon. This solution is rather over-engineered ;-))

It was a joke. I actually tried it on my wifes car, she wouldnt let me drill a hole. The antenna stayed on about 3 minutes, just long enough for her to get out of the neighborhood and get up to about 45MPH, then it slid off and scratched the side of her car.Slipperiness is a BIG disadvantage.

I don't know, but if that's the case, than a thinner medium between the mag mount and the roof would have a higher capacitance than a thicker one, like felt. Or it least I think it would... If so, than Saran Wrap might be the answer.

The problem isnt what you put under the magnet, most magmounts already have some sort of protective film. The real problem is getting dirt under them. Just one grain of sand will ruin a paint job. Having a big spot that doesnt fade with the rest of the car will ruin a paint job. Drill the hole.

Interesting, when I replaced the mica insulator on a screen bypass cap with Teflon the capacitance increased. I guess this is because the Teflon was considerably thinner than the mica.

That would be the reason. The dielectric constant of mica is around 5-7 depending on the type. So for the same thickness, mica would give you at least 2-1/2 times the capacitance of Teflon.

Dielectric constants for a wide range of materials are readily available on the web. Google is your friend.

was not far off.
"You have traveled far and have seen and endured much," he said. "Now my last task in this Incarnation is to help you obtain glimpses, through the Akashic Record, of the life of a certain Englishman who is most anxious to depart his body that you may take over. You will have glimpses only, for it takes much energy and we are both low in strength." He paused, and then, with a faint smile on his face, continued, "The effort will finish this present

I sighed and thought, "Oh! If I could tell people the truth about Communism, how they really treat people. If only the Westerners were not so squeamish!"
I thought of the community of nuns of whom I had heard so recently from a high lama who, upon his journey, had come across a lone survivor and heard her story before she died in his arms. Her community of nuns, she told him, had been invaded by a wild band of Chinese soldiers.

They had desecrated the Sacred Objects and stolen all that there was of value. The aged Superior, they had stripped and rubbed her with butter. Then they had set her alight and laughed and shouted with joy at her screams. At last her poor blackened body lay still upon the ground, and a soldier drew his bayonet the length of her body to make sure that she was dead.

Old nuns were stripped and had red hot irons thrust into them so that they died in agony. Younger nuns were

The Greenlight Lounge
Phone: 906-523-4417
22095 7th St
Chassell, MI 49916

Be sure to bring yer cents of humor with you.

Instead of karaoke, the Greenlight has a thespian showcase ever Saturday nite at 11 pm sharp. Each year they have a different theme for the showcase, and this year the theme is Native American berdaches and their customs and costumes. Right now, the thespian who has won the last seven showcases is Mr. Morkie, and so he is Greenlight's reigning champion and the one to beat.

Besides that, the Greenlight has an enema room with its own beer keg and floor drain so that you can enjoy beer yer own way. This is a feature to be found in no other U.P. bar.

We have fun, fun, fun, fun, fun ever Saturday night, so put on yer leotards and get to stepping. Be thier or be square.

Your are the only poster in the NG this morning, and you appear to be talking to yourself, therefore I guess you must be the WOGER that you keep referring to!!!

Not so. Woger is a malcontent with a varied history that runs from Sociopathic to Psychotic.
Woger's mainstay is that he does not get along well with others and is somewhat reculsive.
Various attempts to phone Woger at 1-304-845-0109 have all met with failure...not because it is a bogus phone number, but because Roger won't answer.

So, in reply, I am not "the WOGER" you think I am.

Any more questions???

Foxy's Showtime on Capital FM 25/11/98 7.35pm

Certainty level: 100%

This one, I can say with absolute certainty, is about me. It was recorded on my Sony Recording Walkman on the evening of Wednesday 25 November 1998. It doesn't mention me by name, so the objective observer might have trouble understanding why I'm so sure it's about me. I'm sure, because the harassment had restarted over the period when this piece was broadcast, and what Capital transmitted would have been in context with events at the time. (Sorry if that explanation is somewhat opaque, but I don't really want to embarrass myself by giving an explanation in detail, and an intelligent reader should be able to work it out for him/her self.)

This isn't the first time Capital have "got at" me; they were doing so right at the very beginning in summer 1990, when they said, "if he listens to Capital then he can't be all bad"; and Tarrant made remarks about me in his breakfast show in spring 1994, when he said, "you know this bloke? he says we're trying to kill him. We should be done for attempted manslaughter."

Unfortunately I didn't record those previous, much more conclusive instances of harassment by Capital DJs, and Capital Radio tells me they only keep recordings for three months. But lately I've been recording everything, and here is one product of that recording.

Neil Fox was introducing some petite Swedish songstress, sounded like Amelia, when he said something about her petite-ness ;

"she's a big big girl, actually she's really about tiny, she's this big, would you say what less than....."

then one of his studio staff shouted, "six inches"

then Fox laughed and said, "less than a meter tall, definitely"

What I think the "six inches" referred to should be obvious. I think it's sexual abuse directed at me.

Also there were a lot of words like "crazy", "mad" etc on this programme, which reinforced my belief that this was on purpose directed at myself.

I think Fox may be something of an unwilling participant in this abuse, he doesn't want to be an abuser but the persecutors are using his show and his staff to get at me. This is not the first time this sort of thing has happened from his show; and my guess is that it won't be the last

Jackie King from the Flying Eye 14/3/99

Certainty level: 40%

In early March 1999, Capital Radio alleged they had received some emails, one of which was forwarded to me. It contained the words, "you know this bloke, he says we're trying to kill him, we should be done for attempted manslaughter!" which Chris Tarrant had said in 1994.

Following these emails there was an explosion in abuse activity, both from Capital Radio, and from MI5 themselves. MI5 followed me around and hurled abuse at me. The following audio file contains what may be abuse from the radio station.

Jackie King from the Flying Eye made these remarks on Sunday (14/3/99) lunchtime 12.24pm; "gas main work being, er, HANDLED if you like (laughs, embarrassed) outside Madame Tussauds, Euston Road obviously feeling the backlash of that".

The key word is "handled", which she sounds embarrassed to be saying; to me it looks like an attempt at a sexual slander. Capital Radio aren't even pretending not to get at me any more. I asked Chris Tarrant several times about his remark from 1994, and he has consistently avoided answering.

Virgin Radio-Johnny Boy (21/August/1998)

Certainty level: 60%

On Saturday 15 August 1998 I attended a gathering of contributors to newsgroup uk.misc at London's Victoria railway station. Also present was Simon G, who had previously given this description of what he would be wearing;

At 06:36 AM 13/8/98 GMT, Simon wrote:
>further clarification to aid recognition, i'll be wearing >a t shirt, a brown suede waistcoat, a brown suede miniskirt, >& a pair of patchwork leggings (& may have a widebrimmed straw >hat, too).

It is my belief that my persecutors, who monitor my home telephone line (and consequently read all modem communications including email), were aware of this meeting, and may even have observed the "meat" taking place.

Following the "meat" it seemed to me that one or two attempts were made by my persecutors to portray me as "gay", on the basis of Simon's suede miniskirt, which in their inventiveness my persecutors attributed to me, not Simon. (Just for the record, Simon is hetero, and has agreed to the above email extract being published.) The following item from Johnny Boy's Wheels of Steel (between 7pm-11pm, Friday 21/8/98) is one such attempt.

(conversation) (J=Johnny-Boy, H=Hipster)

J: Texas of course part of V98 this weekend enjoy it if you're going. Keep your eyes out on Sunday in Chelmsford for Hipster, because he's going to be there. What are you going to be wearing?

H: I'll be wearing my, er, my suede shorts.
(sycophantic laughter)

J: and believe me he ain't joking, he ain't joking. OK coming next at Virgin on the Wheels of Steel...

Why do I think Hipster's "suede shorts" refers to Simon's mini-skirt? Because "suede" in both cases (obvious!); because "suede shorts" indicates "gay" which they were trying to pin on me; because "shorts" = something short, such as a "mini"-skirt; and because the two DJs both laughed as soon as Hipster said "suede shorts", they knew what the joke was, they knew that they were meant (and probably paid) to find it funny.

Virgin Radio-Johnny Boy (19/June/1999)

Certainty level: 30%

I'm not quite sure about this one, so I've given it a one in three chance of being about me. First the background.... from mid-March 1999 for some three or four months, every weekend, I bombarded Westminster MPs with faxes about the terrible, all-encompassing MI5 Persecution. (Jesting aside, it really is terrible and all-encompassing, in the UK anyway.) Of course each week some MPs replied; but in June 1999, after I'd been at it some three months, I started getting "covert" feedback from Virgin Radio.

The first feedback I got was from Danny Baker, on Sunday 13th June. That weekend I was sending an article which contained biting criticism of the police inaction in this case. Danny Baker on his Virgin radio show started an angry rant that "he knows it's rubbish", ie. he was rubbishing what I'd said in that weekend's faxed article. Unfortunately I wasn't recording this programme.

The next possible Virgin-Radio feedback was a week later on 19th June 1999. This is contained in the audio file above, in which Johnny Boy on his "Wheels of Steel" programme says;

"and if you would like to put a triple play together, ahhh.... because quite frankly Hipster and me are running out of ideas...."

He goes on to counter Hipster's "how dare you" with a protestation that he is "only joking".

What I reckon is that my article faxed to MPs that weekend was forwarded by one of the recipients to Virgin Radio. My article had included the words;

"I am beginning to run out of both new topics and energy to write these articles."

So what I reckon is that Johnny Boy read the article.... and rephrased the above line "run out of ... new topics" to "running out of ideas". I recognise that this is a pretty tenuous inference to make.... but do listen to the audio file, from the "ahhh...." pause in JB's speech you can guess he is about to say something "risky" and at someone's expense. Anyway, I listen to the Wheels of Steel regularly and will continue to do so, recording it as I always do - so any future funny remarks will get immortalised on these pages!

Brighton Day Trip - 24/Sept/1998

Certainty level: 5%

On a day trip to Brighton, carrying a minidisc recorder, I managed to collect several indistinct instances of what I think were people swearing at me. Between the 0.5 and 1.5 second marks of the above recording is something that sounds like "nutter". I recorded at least three other much more obscene sexual words on the same day.

I don't honestly think the "nutter" recorded here is part of the conspiracy against me. I've been called similar things elsewhere, where it's been blindingly clear that the insult does form part of the conspiracy - but not in this case. This illustrates quite a worrying point - as a result of the many years of abuse "in public", I now sometimes simply don't know whether somebody is insulting me because they think I look like a dweeb, or whether the conspiracy is in action. Sometimes, due to background noise and people talking quietly relative to ambient noise, I can't be sure of what's being said, even after listening to it again on my minidisc. Or put another way, I now have a mild form of what I recognise to be occasional auditory delusions - but these are fuelled by the many years of actual verbal abuse.

POSK Cafe - 2/Feb/1998

Here are two independent segments, both of which occurred in London on the same day, the first at a Polish cafe, the second on the Tube.

Certainty level: 100%

POSK is the Polish Social-Cultural Centre in Hammersmith, London. It has quite a nice cafe which does pierogi, golabki etc. I went there with my mother early in 1998. Seated at the window table were three Polish men talking amongst themselves. One of them let rip with a sexual obscenity which was clearly directed at me (it's the same one that's been heard again and again since about November 1995), and which was recorded on my minidisc walkman. I have not included it in the above excerpt, which shows the reaction of another of the trio to the first man's swearing - namely, "jestes swinia jednak" which in English is "nevertheless you're a swine".

Certainty level: 20%

Somewhere on the London Underground. "Psycho" (I think - a little unclear).

Leicester Square - 9/Feb/1998

In February 1998 I spent some time in Leicester Square, in the West End of London. This is a very busy area of London, and one which can be relied on to produce "contacts". Capital Radio's offices and their cafe are located here, the Trocadero is nearby, and the place is full of cinemas and entertainment venues.

Certainty level: 100%

A young girl is heard to say, "Alright I'm going to talk to myself" to her friends, followed by all of them laughing together, as I passed by.

Believe me, I do not look mad in real life, these young people would not have directed their comments and laughter at me unless they had already been told by others that I was ill. I am absolutely certain that their behaviour was directed at me, and this audio file is particularly clear.

Certainty level: 60%

This one was recorded in a cafe in Green Park. Two women are talking to each other, one of them says to the other, "something wrong with him", with an emphasis on the "wrong".

The words "something wrong with him" have been repeated at me dozens of times, at my former workplace in Canada, in England, etc. The words are quite deliberately chosen to have two meanings; they obviously imply that I am ill, without forcing the abusers to demean themselves by using more pejorative terms, although they have shown that they have no compunction in that area; and secondly, the words "wrong ... him" make me at fault, and place the guilt for the abusers' wrongdoing on my shoulders.

If you listen carefully you can pick up the word "hunchback". The speaker had emitted a swear word immediately before this excerpt; both the swear word, and the "hunchback", were (I believe) directed at me.

There is no such post. A search of Google Groups shows that the message ID doesn't exist. Look at http://groups.google.com/groups?selm=23098717.5350806FF%40nim.bstrs which is the result of a search for it. Morgan is lying as usual, and can't prove that the post ever existed. It is a figment of his fevered imagination. His wife probably forged it.

Thanks for the proof. You forge an imaginary post and then quote it in the hope of making it look real. Your post damns you out of your own keyboard because of the dates it contains.

Why not reply to some real posts? (Never mind, you are Mark Morgan. We all know how twisted you are.)

On a more positive note for radio amateurs, a secondary allocation of 135.7-137.8 kHz to the Amateur Service was approved on first reading in Plenary on Friday afternoon, November 9. This marks the first time since allocations to radio services began that the Amateur Service has had an allocation below the medium wave broadcasting band. The effective date is not yet set, but is likely to be the date of entry into force of the Final Acts of the Conference. Of course, amateurs must wait until their own administrations authorize the new allocation before they can use it. Some administrations, while not wishing to block the international allocation, have indicated a reluctance to implement it in their countries because of various interference concerns.

and this from a forger himself posting them was entirly self serving FOR D your only problem at first is they don't blog so they did not notce

but they don't respond to your letterwriting either

I did have to explain first what bloging was then that with a set up like you are using anybody can be anybody else at the storke of a few keys your intent in forging the coment like the blog itsefl was/is to promote chaos and diorder and harm me thereby you failed as you failed to make Karol and I fight each other

BA984 LHR->TXL 13/June/1998

Certainty level: 100%

In June 1998 I travelled on the above British Airways flight to Berlin with my mother, to visit her family. There were two women in seats 30D/E, about 4/5 rows behind us. It was quite obvious from the torrent of abuse during these flight that these women had been instructed to harass me and attempt to obtain a reaction.

I did manage to record much of the flight, but unfortunately much of the recording is unclear because of high background noise on the aircraft. The following three excerpts from the recording are the best I can do.

The segment at position 11:34 minutes on my recording contains a fairly quiet word "paranoid", followed immediately by a much louder "yeah, he's paranoid, yeah". During the flight the abuse was not sexual, as it so often is elsewhere, but attacking my mental health.

One of the women in seats 30D/E said "paranoid" very clearly towards the end of the flight, but unfortunately I had run out of minidisc space and stopped recording by then. There is absolutely no doubt in my mind that these women were directed to harass me. This harassment happens without fail on British Airways flights; I've been on something like three or four BA flights in the last 5 years and it's happened each time. Presumably this is because of international law which says incidents on aircraft during flight are actionable in the airline's country of origin - so my persecutors want a reaction from me, and they want to see me "done" in the UK where they can influence the justice system.

Evil old bat in BHS 18/12/98

Certainty level: 40%

Not quite sure how sure I am about this one. I went down to Croydon (Surrey) with my mother to buy her a beret. After doing the shopping, we went to the BHS store restaurant to lunch on fish and chips.

You can guess the rest. Auditory hallucinations my shrink calls them, faithfully recorded on Sony minidisc. Some old cow going on about "see that chap, the one over there, something's wrong with him".

It is quite tiring being attacked by random idiots in the street, or as in this case, by some random, evil old bat in a restaurant. Fortunately it is only a sporadic occurrence. My enemies seem of late reluctant to waste resources in my direction. Should I take this as an insult? Am I not worth the millions of taxpayers money which has been wasted on me? Are the obsessives of MI5 themselves the "nutters" and "really mad" which they accuse me of being? Interestingly this suggestion as to the psychological profiles of Security Service personnel has been made by others... it does lead one to wonder, doesn't it?

Ravenscourt Park 20/3/99

Certainty level: 70%

On Saturday I went to Hammersmith, specifically Ravenscourt Park. There had recently been a resurgence of persecution activity, following the Capital spams. I went to the cafe in the park and had a cup of coffee outside, with my mother. As I went inside the cafe to return the cups, a woman shouted a sexual obscenity (not present on this audio file - don't ask), and she said loudly "something's wrong with him". You can just about hear it in the audio file; listen very carefully, several times; it is distinguishable.

Much less subtle is the male voice shouting "take care he's a nutter" immediately after the woman's voice. As on the other recordings there's a lot of noise, but what the people say can be clearly heard.

Given that I take medication and look and behave quite sanely, and that there had been increased abuse over the last couple of weeks, it seems pretty unlikely that this incident was just spontaneous.... of course, you couldn't prove otherwise, but then that's the way MI5 mean their abuse to look.

Battersea Library 29/3/99

Certainty level: 60%

This one is quite dull. During the month of March 1999, MI5 made another determined attempt to "get" me, substantially through radio programmes, through Jon Snow on Channel Four News, and through abuse in public, of which this is one example.

Recorded on my minidisc-walkman on Monday 29 March 1999, this audio file consists of two girls talking. One says to the other, "he's got something wrong with him." The usual words. How many millions a year do the Security Service waste on this? But they've denied it - how silly of me to forget. And they're not liars either, are they?

Royal Festival Hall 15/4/99

Certainty level: 100%

Another "day in the life of", this one. January and February were quiet; in March it all started again; by the middle of April the resurgence of abuse had been going on for over a month. And this, with 100% certainty, is one manifestation of the abuse.

On Thursday 15 April 1999, 1pm lunchtime, I was at the booking office at the Royal Festival Hall near Waterloo Station in London, buying a ticket for a friend. A woman was at the counter next to me. She said;

"it would kill it, you know, it would just be overkill...
.. they can't stop can they"

It was obvious to everyone, the ticket agents included, that her comments were directed at me, and that "they" (ie. MI5) were "killing" me.

I've heard similar things said at various other times, but rarely have their intentions been expressed as clearly as this. The woman also expressed the obsessive nature of MI5's preoccupation with me, by saying, "they can't stop can they".

Balham - LT bus (8/July/1999)

Certainty level: 90%

I am very sure about this one. I got back from holidays on Wednesday. There were two incidents, both on the tube, on the way back from the airport. There was a further incident the following day, Thursday, on the bus (the 155 I think) in Balham, where two girls started spouting abuse about "crazy", etc. Naturally I had my minidisc with me and was able to record their words.

The cynical reader might think my demeanour or behaviour had given rise to the taunts of "crazy" recorded above. But I assure you my behaviour on the bus would not have made anyone think I was ill; and the taunts the previous day were the same sexual words as previously; so I'm quite sure that these incidents are either deliberately staged, or indicative of an overall high level of awareness among the London public, particularly in the part of London where I live.

The newest U.P. hot spot, the Greenlight Lounge, is IN and all kewl pple know it. For a good time watching local thespians and magickal pple, come to

The Greenlight Lounge
Phone: 906-523-4417
Chassell, MI 49916

Be sure to bring yer cents of humor with you.

Instead of karaoke, the Greenlight has a thespian showcase ever Saturday nite at 11 pm sharp. Each year they have a different theme for the showcase, and this year the theme is Native American berdaches and their customs and costumes. Right now, the thespian who has won the last ten showcases is Mr. Morkie, and so he is Greenlight's reigning champion and the one to beat.

Besides that, the Greenlight has an enema room with its own beer keg and floor drain so that you can enjoy beer yer own way. This is a feature to be found in no other U.P. bar.

We have fun, fun, fun, fun, fun ever Saturday night, so put on yer leotards and get to stepping. Be thier or be square.

Clapham South (17/Feb/2000)

Certainty level: 100%

In February 2000, MI5's hate campaign against me was in full swing. They sent people into the road where I live in south London, to swear at me and abuse me as I was leaving or returning home. One such instance is recorded on the above audio file.

On Thursday 17 February 2000, I had just left my home, en route for Croydon, when two youths approached, going in the other direction. One of them said with a smile on his face something which I didn't recognize, and still don't understand despite it being on this audio clip. His demeanour made it clear his statement was directed at me. I coughed, and in response to that, he continued his insult, calling me a "wanker", which is very clearly recorded on this audio clip.

Two days later, in the very early morning of Sunday 20 February 2000, MI5 inflicted another insult against me just outside my house, when, returning from Croydon, two youths approached (MI5 agents always go in packs of at least two - they're too cowardly to go anywhere on their own) and one of them said quietly and bitterly to the other that "he's shitty, very shitty".

It is still comparatively rare for MI5 to send people to my house, or to my road, to harass me. Usually they know where I'm going to, since they have bugs on my phone and in each room of my house; and they send people to that location, or on the train or tube getting there.

Clapham Junction (6/May/2000)

Certainty level: 60%

On Saturday 6 May 2000, I was in Clapham Junction, shopping and visiting the library. At precisely 12:29pm, the above audio clip was recorded, in front of Arding and Hobbs department store. One girl was saying to her friend,

"He's a homosexual, they can say whatever they want."

There are several reasons why I think this comment might be about me. Firstly, temporal proximity to other such incidents. The persecution had restarted about two to three days before this clip was recorded. Cause of restart unknown. Personally I think it's because I was going on holiday to France the following Monday - MI5 do like to take holidays abroad at the taxpayer's expense, and inventing reasons to resurrect their hate campaign just before I go on holiday is something they've done before.

Secondly, although I am not gay, they have used such references against me before. At Oxford Computer Group in 1994, manager Steve Mitchell simultaneously abused me and another employee but saying we were "of a similar bent". Such insults show latent or quite overt homosexuality on the part of the abuser.

Thirdly, the sort of people who abuse on the basis of mental illness are the same people who abuse others on the basis of sexuality, race, religion, etc. If they can abuse a disabled man, then they will surely do so based on the other criteria mentioned.

There is still some room for doubt, though, which is why I have assigned this recording a certainty level of only slightly above evens. But "they can say whatever they want" is what gives the game away; they just choose a differentiating feature on which to base their abuse; and if one such feature gets too boring ("we've called him a nutter for the last ten years so now we'll call him something else") then they invent a different lie to throw at me.

Balham High Road (3/Nov/2000)

Certainty level: 60%

On 3 November 2000, I had just got off the bus in Balham High Road, when I heard a group of schoolgirls shouting and laughing. One of them yelled;

"He's an idiot you know."

You can hear this on the above clip; it is followed by laughter. I am not quite sure this is about me, which is why I have only given it a two in three probability. I have been attacked many times with the word "idiot", which seems to be a favourite with intellectual lightweights who want to bring down bigger game. (Back in 1992 I was so worried by the attacks on my intelligence that I took the test and joined Mensa...... does that make me a clever idiot? Never mind.)

Crescent Grove, Clapham Common (2/Dec/2000)

Certainty level: 100%

This is one of those clips where I am absolutely, 100% certain it's inflicted by MI5 on me, because of background, context. On Saturday 2 December 2000, I was walking from my home to a pub on Clapham Common, and on the way was in proximity to a group of three English youths who were walking the other way. They turned from the main road into a private estate called Crescent Grove. Here is what they said;

(first youth) "He masturbates!"
(his mate responds) "Yeah, he masturbates!"
(and again) "Thief!"

There is a lot of context associated with this incident, which I will now relate.

Firstly, the verbal sexual abuse is a popular one with MI5, and as a statement about me is currently mostly in their imaginations. The accusation has to be seen relative to MI5's persecutory actions in late November and early December 2000, and in fact for some months leading up to this. Their relevant activities in June 2000 are documented in a message in this evidence item; following from that, they sent someone to simulate an act in front of my window, which was captured on film.

It is the publication of the video of their agent performing the act on himself which caused MI5 to restart this thread of harassment in the first few days of December 2000. But there are some subtleties; I uploaded the digitised video to this website on 26/November/2000; but I did not announce its existence on the newsgroups until Sunday 3/December/2000. These youths' slur was made the previous day, on Saturday 2/Dec. That tells us quite a lot. According to my website logs, there were no accesses to the video file before Sunday 3/Dec. So why did MI5 restart this particular thread of abuse, before their agent's activities were published on the newsgroup? The conclusion we reach is that they were watching my internet connection, either decoding the telephone line, or at the ISP; and/or they may be able to physically see what is on my notebook computer's screen, from RF transmissions from its VGA circuitry. I do not know whether the latter is technically feasible, but the former certainly is, and I have known for years that MI5 bugs my internet activities and phone calls. It is from their observation of my internet connection that they were able to tell, without accessing the video file over the net, that it was of their agent in a compromising position; and it was from that observation that their shouted slur on 2/Dec emanates.

The second accusation, "Thief!", is even more interesting. It relates to occurrences from June of 2000, some six months before these youths threw the word at me. It shows just how wide in reach geographically and temporally the MI5 persecution is; they react to something which happened half a year previously.

In the first half of 2000, MI5 made a determined assault on my friendships. In one particular case, that of A. whom I had known for virtually all my life, they partly succeeded. This person made pointed references to me which made it clear he knew what was happening; at one point he started asking "do you know anything about the FBI and the CIA". In June 2000, we went to see a film in the West End. I paid for both of us, and then asked him to return what I had paid for his ticket, some £7.50. He was reluctant to do so. Eventually he returned £5, settling for the lesser gain of £2.50.

I did not call him a thief to his face, but I may have spoken the word while I was at home, either conscious or in my sleep. MI5 have very tight control over everything I do and say in my home through their bugs; if I say anything against someone in "their" camp, they turn round the accusation against me. So, from the fact that A. tried to garner a few pounds at my expense, MI5 create the accusation, six months later..... "thief!".

5246. MI5 Persecution: Jon Holmes (4-5/Jan/2002) (23383)

Virgin Radio-Jon Holmes (4-5/Jan/2002)

Here are two segments from Virgin FM, one on Friday, the other on Saturday, both from the Jon Holmes evening show.

Certainty level: 80%

In early January 2002 I listened for the first time in some months to Virgin Radio, specifically to the Jon Holmes evening show on Friday 4 January 2002. They promptly attacked me verbally. Again, context is relevant. There are three instances in the space of two minutes on this extract;

00:18 "are you lying?"
00:22 "it's not fair"
01:24 "everyone at the amateur c+ turbo programmers club found it hilarious"

The first phrase is a straight slander. MI5 were trying to portray me as a liar at around this time; I have other audio with the same accusation. "are you lying?"; unsophisticated.

It's closely followed by the words "it's not fair". Note carefully the way he says it, quickly, as if to deny what he says. The phrase "not fair" was first created by OCTS MD
H S.-W. in Nov/1992, and picked up on my first visit to hospital soon after "they should have paid your fare").
Again, unsophisticated parrotting of a key phrase.

The third phrase is explicable through contemporaneous context. That morning I had phoned about a C++ course. "c+ turbo programmers club"... again, somewhat brazen we're-listening-to-what-he-says-on-the-phone, and he-can't-prove-it. Something got lost in translation from MI5's watchers to Virgin, because "c+ turbo" means nothing.... there is no C+ turbo language, only C++, of which Turbo C++ is one implementation.

Certainty level: 80%

I wasn't entirely convinced from Friday's programme, but the following evening's show confirmed it. It contained a number of references to my condition, of which the following excerpt is one such;

00:09 "I'm not well, and no-one cares"
00:24 "my voice sounds all funny"
01:01 "do you mean people that aren't mad"
01:05 "medical problem is it"

"I'm not well" doesn't mean he has a cold; it means he is being sarcastic about my mental illness. "my voice sounds all funny" refers to the change in nature of my voice when acute illness hits. "do you mean people that aren't mad" is obvious.

"medical problem is it"..... rubbing salt into the wound.

The Story of the Incurable homosexual sex Offender
Currently out of jail after a 5 year stint for grabbing a 12yo boys balls in a rest room, and on probation and spending hours a day on Usenet downloading kiddie porn, stalking young boys, and insulting the other contributors and subscribers, Alric Knebel has been known to Missisipi authorities for years. Most of his offenses have been of an overtly sexual nature; others range from proximity crimes, such as stalking, peeping, licking young boys buttocks, and verbal assault, mostly against little, defenseless boys, toward whom he can barely contain his hatred and envy for their huge penis' since Knebel had his bitten off by his mother. According to one of the therapists acquainted with him from one of his court-ordered observational sessions, his disdain for women and his attraction to pre-pubescent boys, and sexual depravity have created a schism in his personality, a roiling conflict which renders him unable to develope beyond a callow, graphitti-based understanding of human sexuality. In his terminally stunted development, he still thinks "mooning" conveys comical hostility, and masturbates to assholes, and that using butt for but and cum for come in his correspondences are examples of hilarity. Such is his level of development.
Ali "Truckstop Pappy" Knebel often brags to other drunks that he's on a first-name basis with, and has the cellphone number of, Chris Hanson, producer of and star journalist on MSNBC's exploitative To Catch a Predator. While he has in fact met Hanson on eight occassions, Hanson was always emerging from a back room of the house into the kitchen, his microphone and camera crew trailing behind him, catching Ali in some instances literally with his pants down and his mouth on a young boys genitals, and other times wearing nothing at all, and on one occaision adorned with whipcream. One time, Ali showed up wearing a skirt. When confronted by Hanson, Ali claimed it was a nazi skirt, that he was celebrating his Nazi beliefs. He was celebrating all right, it was Hitlers birthday. The chatroom transcript that led up to this encounter revealed that he'd been flirting with the online decoy by claiming to be a 25-year-old gay Catholic-school graduate looking to have sex with a 14-year-old boy eager to lose his virginity. When Hanson entered the kitchen doorway with his camera crew, the glare of the spotlight on Alis trademark undersized penis - for which he'd been nicknamed in his teens "Volkswagon Ali"; or just "Volkswagon" - gave him the look of an owl, while obviously lacking that bird's proverbial wisdom: that episode was his fifth conviction. Despite the financial consequences of his arrests, he construes these incidents as milestones in his "career."

In one sting operation, he approached the vice officer with the claim, "I'm famous. You want to have sex with someone famous?" In the predawn hours, as Ali was bonded out, the same officer held out the release form and sardonically chided, "Before you can leave, Ali, can I get your autograph on this?" And Ali immediately dropped a turd on the floor.

ALI began his career in earnest around the age of four. Because he was a juvenile, the record of his earliest offenses have been sealed. A simple neighborhood query reveals that one incident involved punching a girl in the face for her refusing to relinquish her panties. She was six years old. His hatred of females goes back that far. He denigrates them at every oppurtunity. After coaxing some unsuspecting victim into letting him take semi-nude and nude pictures of him, he posted proof of his conquest on Photobucket.

His first non-televised conviction was at Boston's South Central. Attracted to what's referred to by the sexually frustrated participants as "massage rooms," Ali sat in a toilet stall and tapped the shoe of the man seated in the next stall. This was Ali's first encounter with a vice cop, Ali blew him. Another time, after stating outloud, "I ain't pussy-footin' around," he gripped the bottom edge of the partition with both hands and slid under it to invade the other side. The 4yo boy, startled by this sudden unwarranted intrusion, in one motion stood up and hoisted his pants, then pooped on Ali's dumb face, Ali liked it so much he had a new perversion. Ali was bewildered when the patron ran into the lobby and called the police. So depraved, Ali is unable to comprehend that not everyone is into that sort of thing. Ali then had sex with a congressman in a bathroom stall, and caused a national scandal.

With each conviction came further restrictions with whom he could mingle, and soon sexual contacts were harder for Ali to accomplish. But not impossible. As his team of shrinks will attest too, addicts can be extremely inventive at times. Though he fails more often than he succeeds - leading to expensive court proceedings, and eventuating in his divorce - Ali does manage to get the "hook up" now and again. As he did with the little boy in the photos on Photobucket, he's sure to document it one way or another, similar to a serial killer who keeps trophies. Like panties, and BVD's, poop that he saves in jars and abuses himself with, and jockstraps.

More recent incidents include sniffing toilet seats at public restrooms, masturbating in a schoolyard full of children, throwing feces at passerbys near his rooming house, beastiality with a blow up sheep, and abuse of an electric buttplug (don't ask).

Thanks to his low intelligence he immediately appears as a blip on the calibrated radars, and he's further constrained into being a "peeper." But to categorize him under the rubric of child molestor is to too narrowly define his pathology. Oh, no. It's much deeper than that.

Anyway, this page is designed to be a public service, to warn others of this man's illness and obsession.

This IS NO JOKE!
WARNING" Alric Knebel is considered unbathed and dangerous, with aids, syphillis, gonorhea, chlamydia, herpes, shingles, acne, crabs, ticks, hepatitis 1,2,3, HPV, ebola, and bad breath, if he even spits on you you'll die. Call Da Kine bail bonds and tell Dog his whereabouts. Reward of $10,000 for info leading to his arrest.

5259. MI5 Persecution: Post Office 14/11/02 (25558)

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2007-11-18 00:35:32 UTC

Balham Hill Post Office (14/Nov/2002)

Certainty level: 80%

By mid-November 2002 the persecution had again dwindled, as happens sometimes, when along came this item.
I spent most of my time at home, going occasionally to the shops in Clapham South, or into town to meet people. On this particular Thursday I only left the house once, for less than fifteen minutes to post a letter (special delivery, because my ordinary and recorded delivery letters had been disappearing en route for some time - not that anyone would accuse MI5 of such petty harassment).
At the post office counter there was an Asian guy talking into his mobile phone and grinning away. There is a probability that his comments were directed at me, as I will explain further. The second segment of audio closely follows the first segment.

"you'll do it today? let's meet about 3 o'clock and have some lunch. I got stuff to do and I'll go to the bank, get this sh.. fucking moving yeah. Even just a little bit do something. He doesn't understand, you know what it is,
I don't want to tell him again cause then he might, he thinks we're having a go at him, I'm not having a go at him,
I'm explain to him"

Explanation: The guy is talking about some bloke who is unnamed, however it might be interpreted as being in code about me.
"I'll go to the bank"... variously interpretable, either literally, or as sounds-like "wank" which has been a consistent theme in MI5's abuse. "get this shit fucking moving"... abuse... could be interpreted as MI5's criticism of my inertness.
The state spends hundreds of thousands of pounds a year - they want to see some result, not just neutrality and ordinariness.
"he doesn't understand"... MI5 claim I'm stupid... but the numbers and bits of paper prove otherwise, so perhaps what that is really about is their agents' subconscious perception of themselves.

"having a go at him"... sounds like they're having a go at me, doesn't it? You might take the audio at face value and assume it's about some other guy, but it's normal MI5 procedure to pretend to be talking about someone else, and make the content of the message very relevant to me, or their perception of me.

"for some reason it doesn't get into his head, I don't know why... he's lost it completely, hasn't he"

What reason is there for it not getting into his (my) head? Stupidity is implied. Also implied is that it does get into his head;
we're intentionally causing him damage. He's lost it completely... for some time I have suffered from OCD... lost it completely is the persecutors' observation of my illness, which they see through the surveillance on my home, which they caused.

Eclipse pub in Balham (20/Dec/2002)

Certainty level: 70%

On Friday 20/December/2002 I went to Balham to do some shopping and eating. When I went into the Eclipse pub for a meal there were two girls already at the bar being server, I ordered and sat down near the window. They sat down at the opposite window seat, out of sight. After a few minutes they started screaming repetitively "section, section". They were reading something and were trying to pretend that they were just repeating from what they were reading, but in reality it was quite obvious they were talking about me, specifically to confinement under mental health.

As you can guess the behaviour of these unwise young things shows them to be from the underprivileged category which due to the natural laws of society is seldom seen in the better classes of restaurant - the McDonald's next door is their more usual habitat. My guess is that these two females were deliberately placed in the Eclipse with orders to be offensive to me personally. The alternative would be that no-one had ordered them and they were just being rude on their own account, but that is improbable, for two reasons; first, I was out of sight of them and one does not usually "pick on" a person one cannot see; secondly, there had that afternoon in Balham been other, less distinct incidents immediately preceding this, and it is inferable that MI5 were making quite a serious effort to create a physical incident, as they have done on numerous occasions previously. I give my interpretation a two in three chance of validity.

Barbican Library - 6/Feb/2003

Certainty level: 100%

Here's an item from early February 2003, at which time Security Service were re-igniting hostilities against me, a direct result of my appeal for a legal hearing against their organisation. On Thursday 6/Feb/2003 I went to the Barbican in central London with my mother to visit the library and have a meal. Security Service naturally knew about it because it had been mentioned the previous day in our house which is under constant surveillance on grounds of "National Security", so they may have been able to inform staff there to say something to me, as has been done elsewhere.
Two of the people at the Enquiries desk in the library obviously knew of my circumstances, I spoke to one of them who was very polite, and while I was waiting I heard the other speaking with a little less politeness, as recorded on this audio file. He said, "I spy", to start a game of guess what "I spy"; unsubtle, MI5 Spy. Then, at the 34 second mark on this clip he said;

"So obvious you couldn't even get that. I shall have to kill you. ha, ha, ha"

The words "I shall have to kill you" are interesting because such overt expression is rarely heard. Security Service wish me extinct.
Some years ago they were openly shouting "suicide" at me, so that is established. But there is an element of doublethink in their attitude; they use people's natural prejudice against mentally ill, who are popularly painted by media as being aggressive, to try to tinge the group's view of me and MI5's actions against me. The Security Service religion is that the country's enemies are deadly, and must therefore be extinguished. Hence, we must seize eagerly upon the disabled schizophrenic from Clapham, and throttle him, because who knows what'll happen if we don't.

There may be a subtle agenda of population control in what the Security Service have been doing in this country since 1990. In the current issue of 2600 Magazine (the Hacker quarterly, which I read from time to time) there is a quote from Hermann Goering on page 2; "the people can always be brought to the bidding of the leaders. All you have to do is tell them they are being attacked. It works the same in any country".
2600 printed the quote as a comment on the projected war against Iraq, which does not appear to pose any threat to the territory of those countries which wish to invade it. However the quote is somewhat relevant to my case, which is widely known about within Britain;
the security service instructs all right thinking citizens to do MI5's bidding and band together against a common enemy, while at the same time there is a suggestion of "look what'll happen to you if you don't obey us".

Fanatic's Fare for the Common Man

Certainty level: 90%

The article reproduced below was penned by Bernard Levin for the Features section of the Times on 21 September 1991. To my mind, it described the situation at the time and in particular a recent meeting with a friend, during which I for the first time admitted to someone other than my GP that I had been subjected to a conspiracy of harassment over the previous year and a half.

There is a madman running loose about London, called David Campbell; I have no reason to believe that he is violent, but he should certainly be approached with caution. You may know him by the curious glitter in his eyes and a persistent trembling of his hands; if that does not suffice, you will find him attempting to thrust no fewer than 48 books into your arms, all hardbacks, with a promise that, if you should return to the same meeting-place next year, he will heave another 80 at you.

If, by now, the police have arrived and are keeping a close watch on him, you may feel sufficiently emboldened to examine the books. The jackets are a model of uncluttered typography, elegantly and simply laid out; there is an unobtrusive colophon of a rising sun, probably not picked at random.
Gaining confidence - the lunatic is smiling by now, and the policemen, who know about such things, have significantly removed their helmets - you could do worse than take the jacket off the first book in the pile. The only word possible to describe the binding is sumptuous; real cloth in a glorious shade of dark green, with the title and author in black and gold on the spine.

Look at it more closely; your eyes do not deceive you - it truly does have real top-bands and tail-bands, in yellow, and, for good measure, a silk marker ribbon in a lighter green. The paper is cream-wove and acid-free, and the book is sewn, not glued.

Throughout the encounter, I should have mentioned, our loony has been chattering away, although what he is trying to say is almost impossible to understand; after a time, however, he becomes sufficiently coherent to make clear that he is trying to sell the books to you. Well, now, such quality in bookmaking today can only be for collectors' limited editions at a fearsome price - £30, £40, £50?

No, no, he says, the glitter more powerful than ever and the trembling of his hands rapidly spreading throughout his entire body; no, no - the books are priced variously at £7, £8 or £9, with the top price £12.

At this, the policemen understandably put their helmets back on; one of them draws his truncheon and the other can be heard summoning reinforcements on his walkie-talkie. The madman bursts into tears, and swears it is all true.

And it is.

David Campbell has acquired the entire rights to the whole of the Everyman's Library, which died a lingering and shameful death a decade or so ago, and he proposes to start it all over again - 48 volumes this September and 80 more next year, in editions I have described, at the prices specified. He proposes to launch his amazing venture simultaneously in Britain and the United States, with the massive firepower of Random Century at his back in this country, and the dashing cavalry of Knopf across the water, and no one who loves literature and courage will forbear to cheer.

At the time this article was written I had believed for some time that columnists in the Times and other journalists had been making references to my situation. Nothing unusual about this you may think, plenty of people have the same sort of ideas and obviously the papers aren't writing about them, so why should my beliefs not be as false as those of others?

What makes this article so extraordinary is that three or four days immediately preceding its publication, I had a meeting with a friend, during the course of which we discussed the media persecution, and in particular that by Times columnists. It seemed to me, reading the article by Levin in Saturday's paper, that he was describing in some detail his "artist's impression" of that meeting. Most telling are the final sentences, when he writes, "The madman bursts into tears, and swears it is all true. And it is." Although I did not "burst into tears" (he seems to be using a bit of poetic licence and exaggerating) I did try hard to convince my friend that it was all true; and I am able to concur with Mr Levin, because, of course, it is.

At the beginning of the piece Levin reveals a fear of being attacked by the "irrational" subject of his story, saying "I have no reason to believe that he is violent, but he should certainly be approached with caution". This goes back to the xenophobic propaganda of "defence" against a "threat" which was seen at the very beginning of the harassment. The impression of a "madman running loose" who needs to be controlled through an agency which assigns to itself the mantle of the "police" is also one which had been expressed elsewhere.

In the final paragraph of this extract, his reference to Everyman's Library as having "died a lingering and shameful death a decade or so ago" shows clearly what sort of conclusion they wish to their campaign. They want a permanent solution, and as they are prevented from achieving that solution directly, they waste significant resources on methods which have been repeatedly shown to be ineffective for such a purpose.

Private Eye, 23 Oct 1992

Certainty level: 25%

I'm not really sure whether this cover was intended to get at me, or whether it was re-interpreted after publication to be about me.
This issue of Private Eye came out in October 1992, by which time I had been under severe continuous pressure at work and from the general population in Oxford for many months. It had John Major saying to his wife, "Come back, Norma!" under the title "Major's support lowest ever".

There's a story behind this. In late October I was in the local pub
(the Rose and Crown, nice traditional name eh) with two people from work, Simon and Phil. Phil had with him a copy of the current Private Eye. These are both "nice people" and on my side, I hasten to add.
Simon pointed out the message on the magazine's cover to Phil, and asked "what do you think about that". Phil answered, "Well usually they [Private Eye] get it right". This exchange happened in front of me.
Although I was ill at the time (this was before I'd started taking medicines) I hadn't read anything into the Eye cover until these guys pointed it out to me.

Sometime later, again in the same road, a student shouted to one of his friends, "so when are you COMING BACK?", again in front of me.

What I realised Phil thought it meant was a double-entendre, the "coming" referring to the act of ejaculation, the "back" referring to the human back-side. So in a play on words you get a person who is referred to as a back-side ejaculating. Charming.

Of course, Phil could have been wrong. Perhaps there was no such meaning intended by Private Eye. Perhaps he saw meaning which wasn't there.
Perhaps the moon is made from green cheese. Who knows?

Victor Lewis-Smith

Certainty level: 10%

Victor Lewis-Smith has issued a denial through his webmaster
John Hayward-Warburton regarding this article; he says quite categorically it's not written about me. I kind-of sort-of believe him, but I think the conspiracy is so wide that the phrase "Eventually, I had to leave because they were all trying to kill me" could have been intended to be as if from any paranoid person, but could have been influenced by my case in the particular. So the influence could have been sort-of subconscious.

This article is from the Evening Standard of Thursday May 8, 1997.
It is titled "Goon, and best forgotten" and may be found on page 31.

I think VLS has written/produced stuff specifically about me in the past, both in his Evening Standard column, one of which is reproduced below (in another case, he was talking about computer hacking, and I think that was directed at me), and a television programme in around late 1993 when he has a taxi driver who says "they're all trying to kill me guv" and VLS responds "you're supposed to be quite intelligent aren't you".

However, his webmaster has issued a formal denial on his behalf, so it is not for me to oppose what he has stated categorically.

5275. MI5 Persecution: Introduction to Sent Faxes (1633)

Introduction to the Sent Faxes webpages

Between 1998 and April/2000 I sent some thirty articles on the subject of the MI5 Persecution to British politicians, media, legal and diplomatic entities in the UK. Of those articles 24 are reproduced on this part of the website. They were originally composed as Microsoft Word documents, and saved to HTML form for publication here. A few of them were slightly edited in format for readability.

You will see that these articles cover quite comprehensively what has been going on since 1990, there being quite a lot of material to cover, since it is a rare week that goes by without MI5 making some harassing or threatening action against me. "How could it be True?"... they use the mental illness which they induced in me as a ready explanation for my complaints. Who started it, why did it start, why it continues...
these faxed articles provide examination in more depth of the treatment in the Frequently Asked Questions webpages.
The sheer meaninglessness of the Secret Police actions is highlighted; their operatives make their livelihoods by cynically exploiting the taxpayers, when in a more responsible country they would be looking at the inside of prison cells.

The validity of this observation is proven by their reaction to my several suggestions in the articles that I would cease sending faxes if MI5's agents (and it's always the same people doing the persecution) desisted from continually harassing me. A number of times, you will see in the faxed articles, I have suggested that we come to a "peace of mind agreement" where I cease complaining and they cease harassing. On one occasion, I wrote to Hugh S.-W., the director of OCTS where I was employed in 1992-94 and who is aware of the circumstances, asking that he intercede to bring this matter to a close, by initiating a meeting between myself and the persecutors to mutually settle our differences; he didn't reply, but MI5 did soon after - they said "This is what you wanted, wasn't it?, some sort of confrontation?". The reality is the people stalking me are not interested in any settlement; for them crime pays, and pays handsomely; moreover it is State-approved crime; the Police will never investigate or take action;

it is corruption on an incredible level and scale, and it has gone on for over a decade.

You will see that the articles contain three elements; firstly, there are original written articles, many in the first half of 1999 when I was writing new articles every week and sending them by email and fax during the weekend; then there are "MI5 Persecution Update" articles, which list happenings recent to a particular transmission; and finally there is the "old faithful" Frequently Asked Questions article which was sent on a few occasions during the three year period. These articles generated a number of interesting responses from politicians and other recipients, many of which are documented in the "received faxes" area of these webpages.

I hope you enjoy reading these articles. I'm not as angry as these articles necessarily make out, only sometimes, usually soon after the persecutors have said something unpleasant at me; the purpose of putting lots of fire and ire into the mix is to try to chuck it into the public domain which might lead to MI5 being forced to curb their actions. Unfortunately that aim was not achieved, despite many, many thousands of faxes being sent. Also, if any policemen are reading this, then I'm (a bit) sorry about the rude things I said about "the Bill" in one or two of the articles; the police have never done me any harm (yet) by commission, only by omission of doing anything to investigate my complaints or treat them seriously.

5276. MI5 Persecution: Faxes Sent to Diplomatic/Legal (3808)

Faxes Sent to British Diplomatic/Legal logs

During the 1998-2000 period my records indicate that I sent at least 3,642 faxes to diplomatic and legal offices located in the British isles, of which 3,345 went via TPC's email-to-fax service and 297 were sent via fax-modem direct from my computer. The actual figure is somewhat higher since, for most of this period, whenever a recipient asked to be deleted from my mailing list, I totally wiped all entries including that from the logfile.

In the records "Y" indicates successful transmission from fax-modem, "N" indicates failed transmission from fax-modem.
"E" indicates an error occurred while transmitting via fax-modem and a fax may have been only partly transmitted.
"y" and "n" indicate success or failure via TPC.

In April 2000 I changed the method of operation by recording "R" when a recipient requested removal, rather than wiping their details from my mailing list and records; and keeping "B" records for when TPC actioned a ban on a recipient's fax-number, but the recipient did not write to ask me to cease faxing. The purpose of these changes was to keep more accurate and complete records, but the intention was thwarted by the police complaint.

Well Mark, I see that your prediction has not come true that if I stopped posting to RRAP things would return to normal. Its been a while since I posted, and it appears that you have attracted more attention than ever before from folks who will not tolerate your abuse of usenet. I notice that even those who seemed to feel sorry for you have joined in and commented against the Morgan flood. Oh well, just wanted to give you a little reminder that you were wrong once again, the only common denominator the can explain the conditon of usenet is you, and that is a fact.

5292. MI5 Persecution: Faxes Sent to Media1 (5983)

Faxes Sent to British Media logs

During the 1998-2000 period my records indicate that I sent at least 6,137 faxes to the British media, of which 5,775 went via TPC's email-to-fax service and 362 were sent via fax-modem direct from my computer.
The actual figure is obviously higher since, for most of this period, whenever a recipient asked to be deleted from my mailing list, I totally wiped all entries including that from the logfile.

In the records "Y" indicates successful transmission from fax-modem, "N" indicates failed transmission from fax-modem.
"E" indicates an error occurred while transmitting via fax-modem and a fax may have been only partly transmitted.
"y" and "n" indicate success or failure via TPC.

In April 2000 I changed the method of operation by recording "R" when a recipient requested removal, rather than wiping their details from my mailing list and records; and keeping "B" records for when TPC actioned a ban on a recipient's fax-number, but the recipient did not write to ask me to cease faxing. The purpose of these changes was to keep more accurate and complete records, but the intention was thwarted by the police complaint.
Also in April 2000, I added some further fax numbers to my media mailing list and records, which is why some of the faxnumbers below have only a single entry, and some indeed have none.

The Story of the Incurable homosexual sex Offender
Currently out of jail after a 5 year stint for grabbing a 12yo boys balls in a rest room, and on probation and spending hours a day on Usenet downloading kiddie porn, stalking young boys, and insulting the other contributors and subscribers, Alric Knebel has been known to Missisipi authorities for years. Most of his offenses have been of an overtly sexual nature; others range from proximity crimes, such as stalking, peeping, licking young boys buttocks, and verbal assault, mostly against little, defenseless boys, toward whom he can barely contain his hatred and envy for their huge penis' since Knebel had his bitten off by his mother. According to one of the therapists acquainted with him from one of his court-ordered observational sessions, his disdain for women and his attraction to pre-pubescent boys, and sexual depravity have created a schism in his personality, a roiling conflict which renders him unable to develope beyond a callow, graphitti-based understanding of human sexuality. In his terminally stunted development, he still thinks "mooning" conveys comical hostility, and masturbates to assholes, and that using butt for but and cum for come in his correspondences are examples of hilarity. Such is his level of development.
Ali "Truckstop Pappy" Knebel often brags to other drunks that he's on a first-name basis with, and has the cellphone number of, Chris Hanson, producer of and star journalist on MSNBC's exploitative To Catch a Predator. While he has in fact met Hanson on eight occassions, Hanson was always emerging from a back room of the house into the kitchen, his microphone and camera crew trailing behind him, catching Ali in some instances literally with his pants down and his mouth on a young boys genitals, and other times wearing nothing at all, and on one occaision adorned with whipcream. One time, Ali showed up wearing a skirt. When confronted by Hanson, Ali claimed it was a nazi skirt, that he was celebrating his Nazi beliefs. He was celebrating all right, it was Hitlers birthday. The chatroom transcript that led up to this encounter revealed that he'd been flirting with the online decoy by claiming to be a 25-year-old gay Catholic-school graduate looking to have sex with a 14-year-old boy eager to lose his virginity. When Hanson entered the kitchen doorway with his camera crew, the glare of the spotlight on Alis trademark undersized penis - for which he'd been nicknamed in his teens "Volkswagon Ali"; or just "Volkswagon" - gave him the look of an owl, while obviously lacking that bird's proverbial wisdom: that episode was his fifth conviction. Despite the financial consequences of his arrests, he construes these incidents as milestones in his "career." In one sting operation, he approached the vice officer with the claim, "I'm famous. You want to have sex with someone famous?" In the predawn hours, as Ali was bonded out, the same officer held out the release form and sardonically chided, "Before you can leave, Ali, can I get your autograph on this?" And Ali immediately dropped a turd on the floor.

ALI began his career in earnest around the age of four. Because he was a juvenile, the record of his earliest offenses have been sealed. A simple neighborhood query reveals that one incident involved punching a girl in the face for her refusing to relinquish her panties. She was six years old. His hatred of females goes back that far. He denigrates them at every oppurtunity. After coaxing some unsuspecting victim into letting him take semi-nude and nude pictures of him, he posted proof of his conquest on Photobucket.

His first non-televised conviction was at Boston's South Central. Attracted to what's referred to by the sexually frustrated participants as "massage rooms," Ali sat in a toilet stall and tapped the shoe of the man seated in the next stall. This was Ali's first encounter with a vice cop, Ali blew him. Another time, after stating outloud, "I ain't pussy-footin' around," he gripped the bottom edge of the partition with both hands and slid under it to invade the other side. The 4yo boy, startled by this sudden unwarranted intrusion, in one motion stood up and hoisted his pants, then pooped on Ali's dumb face, Ali liked it so much he had a new perversion. Ali was bewildered when the patron ran into the lobby and called the police. So depraved, Ali is unable to comprehend that not everyone is into that sort of thing. Ali then had sex with a congressman in a bathroom stall, and caused a national scandal.

With each conviction came further restrictions with whom he could mingle, and soon sexual contacts were harder for Ali to accomplish. But not impossible. As his team of shrinks will attest too, addicts can be extremely inventive at times. Though he fails more often than he succeeds - leading to expensive court proceedings, and eventuating in his divorce - Ali does manage to get the "hook up" now and again. As he did with the little boy in the photos on Photobucket, he's sure to document it one way or another, similar to a serial killer who keeps trophies. Like panties, and BVD's, poop that he saves in jars and abuses himself with, and jockstraps.

More recent incidents include sniffing toilet seats at public restrooms, masturbating in a schoolyard full of children, throwing feces at passerbys near his rooming house, beastiality with a blow up sheep, and abuse of an electric buttplug (don't ask).

Thanks to his low intelligence he immediately
appears as a blip on the calibrated radars, and he's further constrained into being a "peeper." But to categorize him under the rubric of child molestor is to too narrowly define his pathology. Oh, no. It's much deeper than that.

Anyway, this page is designed to be a public service, to warn others of this man's illness and obsession.
This IS NO JOKE!
WARNING" Alric Knebel is considered unbathed and dangerous, with aids, syphillis, gonorhea, chlamydia, herpes, shingles, acne, crabs, ticks, hepatitis 1,2,3, HPV, ebola, and bad breath, if he even spits on you you'll die. Call Da Kine bail bonds and tell Dog his whereabouts. Reward of $10,000 for info leading to his arrest.

Obviously, you can't count. I only posted once today to usenet as a little reminder that your prediction did not come true, thank you very much. Now go bark up the right tree and leave me out of your everlasting whine. If you could learn how to read source code, IP's, and other useful information, you would what in fuck you are squaking about, but as usual you don't. Toodle retard.

To anyone with even an elementary understanding of anonymous proxies, anonymous remailers, zombie backdoors, etc., the ability to change
ones
IP address and header details is simplistic, indeed, with little time spent anyone can appear to be "coming" from anywhere in the world.

You waste my time. Worse, you think us all idiots here. You remind me
of the "street smart" prosecutors and defense attorneys who stack
jurys
with members of little or no technical knowledge and then call in "expert witnesses" and propose arguments of technical details to boggle
their minds.

You have only proven that you, yourself are either ignorant to such technical details, or else you are indeed street smart, I favor the latter in this case (however, if you in the dark about such things, 15 minutes on google will enlighten you.)

To anyone with even an elementary understanding of anonymous proxies, anonymous remailers, zombie backdoors, etc., the ability to change
ones
spent anyone can appear to be "coming" from anywhere in the world.

You waste my time. Worse, you think us all idiots here. You remind me
jurys
with members of little or no technical knowledge and then call in
"expert witnesses" and propose arguments of technical details to

You have only proven that you, yourself are either ignorant to such

latter in this case (however, if you in the dark about such things, 15

To anyone with even an elementary understanding of anonymous proxies, anonymous remailers, zombie backdoors, etc., the ability to change
ones
spent anyone can appear to be "coming" from anywhere in the world.

You waste my time. Worse, you think us all idiots here. You remind me
jurys
with members of little or no technical knowledge and then call in
"expert witnesses" and propose arguments of technical details to
their minds.

You have only proven that you, yourself are either ignorant to such technical details, or else you are indeed street smart, I favor the latter in this case (however, if you in the dark about such things, 15 minutes on google will enlighten you.)

To anyone with even an elementary understanding of anonymous proxies, anonymous remailers, zombie backdoors, etc., the ability to change
ones
spent anyone can appear to be "coming" from anywhere in the world.

You waste my time. Worse, you think us all idiots here. You remind me
jurys
with members of little or no technical knowledge and then call in
"expert witnesses" and propose arguments of technical details to
their minds.

You have only proven that you, yourself are either ignorant to such technical details, or else you are indeed street smart, I favor the latter in this case (however, if you in the dark about such things, 15 minutes on google will enlighten you.)

While Markie Malarkie has gone to bed, visions of D will dance in his head.

While Markie sleeps, into Teranews D creeps.
And jams the works for all the jerks.

Mr. Morgan KB9RQZ, apparently is in such a twisted fit that he cannot comprehend the trurth. Mark, open your mind and perhaps you can see reality.

Seek help, even with one post I throw you into a frenzy, obviously you have deep seated issues that need to be addressed. Look at the situation, you let yourself get all worked up by a perfect stranger...that in itself speaks to your mental status. Hope you can get that demon under control someday.

Peace

Now, I hate to keep bragging about how good I am, but I'm really good at it. I also tout the nutritional values of drinking lots of cum. I'm healthy as a horse.

Look, here I am below, with some photos of me, and a couple of articles about me, that I'm proud to share with you.

I'll suck you, I'll let you fuck me. I need this, folks.

Check out my adventures.

Hi. I'm Bill Davidson. If you've been on the internet long, you know me. Well, I'm looking for some warm male company, just about anytime. I like studs, I like twinks. I like them ALL. But I absolutley hate women.

Look below at these links, and see if I'm not a man you'd like to have drinking your cum.

I love making up callsigns of rare countries and/or sections during clowntests. Fooling the clowntesters into thinking they just worked a rare section is like shootin fish in a toilet bowl.
Just turn down the power and the mic gain and make up a fake foreign accent an you have em licking your ass. HAHA!

Does Toad still have the links to that disgusting ultra-perverted Jap Hentai/Anime pr0n on his blog? He must have real issues upstairs to have links to that perverse crap on his page!
The bastard must be truly one very SICK PUPPY!!
That hentai cartoon kiddie pron crap is not art, it's sickness that needs to be blasted away into small bits.

Mark, my mere presence makes you squirm without forging you on here.
Look at last night on nim as an example, that is proof enough of my power to manipulate you like the fool that you portray so well.

I have no reason to forge? There is no reason to forge you, others may feel the need, that is their business. Perhaps you can grasp the concept that there is MORE than ONE person posting here besides you and I. The only lies being told are the ones you invent in that defective grey matter in your skull. Why don't your do the RRA groups a favor, stop your childish nonsense, and let the real hams post here without your interference. You know the ones that I am talking about, the ones that know about station grounding, that it is legal to run more than 1500 watts ERP (wacky mark thinks that anything more than 1.5 KW ERP is illegal), and the ones that actually use modes like SSB and CW.

Peace

considering the fact yopu very though t wrt to my request that you honor your "promise was to accuse Mr Morgan of fraud and/or forgery I highly doubt that you are the offended party as I myself received email that apeared to be from YOU claim that Gaverielah was both a lesbian and other email apearently form you that claimed Gaverielah was in fact Mark in a dress, a silly stunt try on the leader of the VE team that tested her for tech and him for a general CSSE at the same time

I have read for myself your "offer" yes with the help of link provided by Mr Mark Morgan on nimbusters and your insistance that it was a,"done deal " I saw nothing stating or implying that it was in anyway dependant on Mark's actions, indeed you "reply" merely tends to convince me that Mark version s of the matter is closer to the truth especaily as he admits some of what he relays may well be various parties in the forgery of both his name your nickname and that of other parties

I frankly wonder this reply and your efforts thereby to convince that some Hams I like to think I know fairly well are engaging in the behavior you suggest. I must agree with Mark that you indeed wise to conceal your name and call given I would indeed like to see some measure of justice done I must again request you release the use of Mr Morgans call ultimately to his own use

Usenet is a wild and wooly medium one I rarely venture into but when you make a post you do no have any control of who respond to it how they respond given my discussion of the general as we are often the air at the same time chasing digital dx on one radio and idling the time on another radio and band

I understand the matter al that would be required is giving me the password to the account of the blog by email or if use had other uses for that account taking a few moments to create another dummy account and transfer the blog or release it from one account to the new throwaway account, at that is my understand from speck to Mark KB9RQZ on Air just now

You should learn to read, I did not say that you said he was a friend, it was a question, notice the question Mark. Like I said Mark Morgan KB9RQZ=illiterate idiot who can't spell or write... and apparently who can't read very well either.

5752. Mark, why do you now change your story and imply that George wrote the email, before you said you knew nothing about it...why all the lying and flooding.

5888. Why doesn't Mark want to bare the sole responsibility of his actions of lauding false charges against an innocent ham (Brian Crow) K3VR to Florida Child Protective Services...

No matter how Mark Morgan, KB9RQZ tries to rationalize his reasoning for his actions, there is no excuse for the false reporting of lies about another person because he suspects something through his twisted logic and suspects that a certain person is the author of messages on a ham radio message board WITHOUT ANY PROOF WHATSOEVER . If anyone reading this knows Mr. Crow, they should inform him that Mr. Mark C. Morgan KB9RQZ, has alleged on the www.nimbusters.com ham board, that he called the hotline for the Florida Department of Child Protective Services and falsely reported that Mr. Crow has had inappropriate conversations with a 7 year old child concerning sex.

IMO this behavior on the part of Mr. Morgan and his actions are dispicable, but shows the great length that Mr. Morgan will go to persue/attack other hams who he thinks criticize his netique by taking his disputes off of the net and trying to affect someone's freedom and livelyhood by lauding false charges against anyone he deems is deserving of his tirade of revenge.

Perhaps, it was Mark's recent contact with Karol Madera that influenced his tirade of revenge being focused on Mr. Crow.

Speaking on behalf of at least four Hams I know of, thank you, Dloyd, for the ongoing humor you are providing.
Mark is spinning like a gyroscope gone dizzily out of control.

The humor? That Mark becomes upset about your half-dozen posts per diem and accuses you of flooding the group while at the same time posting up to and including hundreds of times in a single day.
Methinks it highly odd that Mark cannot, or refuses, to see the irony in his accusations.

Mark could easily bring all of this to a halt. All it would require would be for Mark to stop flaming and acting like a petulant child. But of course in his infantile mind, he is "defending" himself and is the "victum" in all of this.

Keep up the good work. Many of us are enjoying watching as you manipulate and choreograph Mark's next dance.

It is not hard to start him off, he is always wound up like a spring.
He has screwed the pooch on his latest tirade. In his attempt to take revenge against me, he has falsely accused another ham of child molestation. Me thinks, Marks world is going to really get interesting in the next few weeks.

Why are you going after someone who has never done anything to you?
Isn't that your reasoning you like to spew when someone criticzes your netique.

5906. Will Mark get on HF?

Mark has heard this before and will claim to be unphased. He apparently thinks that he is invinceable. At least he thought he was until DeLorean came along, that is. :-)
I think he is now seeing the chinks in his armor.
Now days poor Mark is spinning and spinning and looking over his digital shoulder from day to day. He's not sure who is who any more.

What kind of dance are you going to have Mark do next? This is almost like watching Dancing With The Stars, only funnier!

Ok Mark if you are convinced that a child was abused, why did you hang it on Brian Crow?

5950. When all else fails, flood.

Typical Mark. When authoring an intelligent response is beyond his pale, FLOOD!

How childish.

So there you have it, Dloyd. You have succeeded in doing that which many of us wish we could have done. You have single-handedly driven Mark to the very brink of insanity. Of course he didn't need a whole lot of being pushed over the edge, but YOU are the icing on the cake, so to speak. You are now Mark's obsession. (he spells it "obession") You are Mark's sole reason for flooding Usenet and the Nim board of late. All ills befalling Mark are the fault of Dloyd.
In reality, Dloyd, you have become Mark's reason for getting up in the morning, his reason for running right to his computer and, indeed, the only thing Mark has to look forward to with his daily floods.

Today you are Dloyd. Tomorrow you will be Mr Crow. The next day you will be DeLorean or Roger or Mad Mike.
Mark's mind is a veritable mental maze with no beginning or no end. Total confusion.

Because some folks are not going to sit here and do nothing about Mark's continued tirade of false accusations and revenge against anyone he views as having done something to him in the past, even thought most were not even here or did anything more other than to critique his online behavior. It appears that he believes it is appropriate to seek revenge through any means necessary, including lying and filing false charges to the authorities against innocent folks because of his twisted view of the world. Mark needs to take a personal inventory of his life and then perhaps he can see how unjustified his actions have become, how falsely accusing someone of the crime of sexual abusing a child, is a dispicable act. Mark alleges that someone falsely accused him of elder abuse, it was hell, and he knows "Robesin" was responsible, and even indicated that it was dispicable for someone to do that to a person who he has never harmed. Yet he turns right around and does the exact same thing he alleges happened to him, if any of Mark's claims are true, Mark is no better than Robesin. Look in the mirror Mark and you have become that of which you hate.

Dloyd

So ignore him.

He learned that from Robesin and no one stood against Robesin, therefore it is OK.

Robesin accused him of the same. I guess what goes around comes around.

It is.

Unfortunately, Mark had to take that final step, to cross the line as Robesin had done so many, many times, to be rid of Robesin.

Where is Robesin? It would appear that he could sure dish it out, but couldn't take it.

But that is appearances only. Robesin is still here.

Mark has become Robesin's eighth personality?

Why didn't Mark follow that advice himself. I would like to ignore him, but you know, you just tire of someone who follows you around the net, harrassing and flooding groups and message boards with accusations lauded at you about something you haven't even done and sending you emails with his tirade.

How can I/we stand against someone when we weren't even here, I stopped using usenet in the 90's because the Woger/Lloyd BS. Then I decided to use this medium again and took part of ridding usenet of that racist pest Lloyd Davies, and now have had to put up with Morgan's childish bullshit, sometimes you need to take a stand. Why is it OK for Mark to take his revenge out on folks that weren't even here when he was having his fued with Robesin? That line of thinking is as twisted as Mark's thinking appears to be.

Then why did, as Mark alleges, report Brian Crow as doing something illegal with a child, what has Mr. Crow done to Mark? Nothing I can see, except Mark has been drawn into being a puppet in Karol's little fued.

Perhaps, or just one of the many personalities he has of his own.

Mister Morgan why do you say bad things about my Grandpa. He takes me fishing and hunting. We go riding on his motorcycle and on the horses too. We have fun together. This summer I got my ham license too and we talk on the radio I got my general class license and want to upgrade to extra. My Grandpa says you are sick but the doctors cant cure you. I hope you feel better soon. bye You're using a nym. Change your name and he won't know who you are, unless you're harassing him...

Mark's pretty sharp about stuff like that. He'll catch on right away.

Only a few took a stand on Robesin. It had almost no effect until Mark went berserk. Live with it. At least you don't have to live with Robesin.

I don't know these people. I know Mark only from RRAP.

Do your best not to piss off Mark. He's tired of taking crap from people.

which is I why I was very carefull

OTOH id Dloyd were an honest man he could spare any one any harm by iding himself and leting me report Dloyd correctly to th e proper aiuthority so my suspisions can be properly investagted

copuld he certainly sem to be tryingto ape Steve now that I have publicy accused (with LE) of being Bob Crow K3VR, and of haveing a questionable

Mark (myself) has aleged that Dloyd has had an impoer coand sexauly explict conversation with a 7 yo, since I currently believe Dloyd to be Bob Crow I reported the matter as such. I also reported that they need to carefull as Dlopyd could be setting bob up Revenge Dloyd even assuming you aar e correct how does making a report (and clearly now more reports must follow againstCrow get me revenge against YOu for you actions against me and Mywife?

indeed with this post you convince hat you are MrCrow and that I should persue my suspisions fully and here I point out i s ahd not yet occoured to look for Mr Crow's record of posts here in RRAP I have been looking and what do I find about Mr Crow under his own call he hates lloyd Davis and davies iwas according to your blogs the reason for the evxistance of Dloyd Lavies

he attacked in at various pointsacuusing me of BEING lloyd it seems he was later pissed becuase I sought to break the freuding threads between himself, Lloyd and Woger

under his previous he attacked ME in '98 for my No Code stance and for my dyslexia

becuase I believe you have done something sexauly impoper with your GS and that you are Crow

wether you/crow have ever done anything to me is irleavant

If I had reason to believe that say BB had possibliy commited Child abuse somhould I not report it simply becuase he has been something of a friend in the unlikely event I had a reason to believe BB or Len or Todd Bil Sohl or Carl had comited chid abuse I woud report them to the authories. I would report my own father if I belived he had abused a child

When did I say that I discussed you or your sex life with a child, that was never said. My seven year old grandchild asked me what "bi" was and I gave MY grandchild an answer. Morgan has a twisted sexual view of the world, so any discussion of sex has to be smut in his thinking.

How is that going to spare anyone? Like you said, the deed is done.
Nevertheless, your twisted smutty suspections have no merit . Just because your whole world is colored by your sexuality...the whole word is not colored by your twisted views. I believe that you spend way too much time on here and is neglecting your father once again, you also have way too much hazardous waste around your place...perhaps a call to DEQ and to FPS is in order.

Not in my mind, I did not make the comment, your supporter BB did, like I've stated before, Mark can't even follow a thread on usenet, much less make a rational informed decision.

I never mentioned you to my GS, idiot, at the time he asked what was "bi" and I told him in non-graphic terms, other than you are also sick but doctors can't help you with your illness, my grandson wanted to add his call to his message to you, but I told him not to because you

Funny how Mark was able to contact an Attorney on Thanksgiving for his stalking.

Don't care about your mother kook, stop spouting shit about your personal life, no one cares. but why did you change the story, you said before that you did not deal with your Mom because she left your Dad, when he got sick. Are you LYING now or were you LYING then?

You need to learn how to read....really Mark, life is too short to not be smarter than a 5th grader. I never said I exposed my GS to you. I said you exposed YOURSELF to my GS on here...because of your ranting about being persecuted for being a bi-sexual, and based on your posts my GS asked what is a bi-sexual? and I simply told him. In case you haven't heard, Amateur radio is a family oriented hobby, just because you use it for your fantasy sexual stalking is no fault of mine or problem, other than having to explain your "mental problem" in terms of a disease to my GS. Just because you have an abnormal proclivity for viewing the world as your smut filled oyster, don't think the rest of the world is so tainted. Once again I have to remind you that the real world does not revolve around your sick perversions. Since 99% of the population is hetro, I know it is hard for you to have a normal view of the world and interact with sexually normal people, but you could at least try. BTW isn't tonight your night to be at the Green Light?

Why don't you seek help for you mental disease, the world is not based on sex as you would like. I'm sure a psychiatrist can provide the help you need.

Sorry Mark, none of these posts are mine...you really need to sort out your foes and place blame where it belongs, but oh well I am a rock and your feeble accusations just break into pieces, as the ones who really posted just laugh a little longer and louder at the mentally ill buffon named Mark Morgan.

The same place you did Mark, my opinion based upon my view of the world, the garbage you have been posting for the past year +, and the other bread crumbs you leave on the net.

Mark, you can't self diagnose yourself, the DSM-IV, is only for trained professionals, seek help Mark...you really do need it. I hope LE can help you, I am sure they would be glad to give you a ride to Houghton Hospital for an IVC...

Why do your free speech have to contain tid bits of your personal business, nobody really cares about your personal business. You are so needy for attention, when I wasn't here for several weeks you just started up your shit with other folks. it never ends with you does it

How is pointing out that you laud false charges at an innocent ham harm his case, in fact the opposite is probably true, the reality is you don't like the reminder of your misdeed...you are just like Steve Robesin, you have become what you claim to hate...who made who Mark?

6184. MI5 Persecution: Faxes Sent to Parliament1 (1633)

Faxes Sent to British Parliament logs

During the 1998-2000 period my records indicate that I sent at least 14,480 faxes to the British Parliament in Westminster, of which 9,138 went via TPC's email-to-fax service and 5,342 were sent via fax-modem direct from my computer. The actual figure is obviously much higher since, for most of this period, whenever a recipient asked to be deleted from my mailing list, I totally wiped all entries including that from the logfile.

In the records "Y" indicates successful transmission from fax-modem, "N" indicates failed transmission from fax-modem.
"E" indicates an error occurred while transmitting via fax-modem and a fax may have been only partly transmitted.
"y" and "n" indicate success or failure via TPC.

In April 2000 I changed the method of operation by recording "R" when a recipient requested removal, rather than wiping their details from my mailing list and records; and keeping "B" records for when TPC actioned a ban on a recipient's fax-number, but the recipient did not write to ask me to cease faxing. The purpose of these changes

MI5 Persecution: How Could It Be True?

If you have the patience to read these articles you will be struck by how apparently fantastic the claims being put forward are. You may ask yourself why such seemingly nonsensical assertions are made. This matter has been discussed on the Internets UK-local newsgroups for three years now, and the denizens of the uk.misc newsgroup (the so-called "miscreants") have come up with a number of theories to explain these posts; it has been variously suggested that they are a troll (an artificial creation for the amusement of its author), that they are made by MI5 themselves with the purpose of discrediting other conspiracy theories, and that the poster is mentally ill and the articles are symptomatic of the illness (the view held by most miscreants).

Are these claims the product of mental illness, or is that just a cover?

The most obvious explanation, that the claims made result from the admitted mental illness of the author, is the one which the persecutors intend be the one accepted without consideration being given to the possibility of the claims being true. The persecutors have actually been very clever about this, both in selecting as their target someone who was known from school or university as being borderline schizophrenic, and in ensuring the nature of their persecution corresponds to what often features in the delusions of a schizophrenic.

The very first incident of the persecution occurred in June 1990, when I was still a student at university in London. It consisted of a reaction (giggling) from the newsreader, Sue Carpenter of ITN, to what she saw happening in my living-room at my parents home where I was living. Before your imagination gets the better of you I should make clear that what the newsreader was reacting to was not too embarrassing in nature; my mother had brought an apple for me into the the room, and Sue Carpenter found this amusing.

I recognized that Carpenter had reacted to what she had seen in my living-room, yet this idea still seemed completely fantastic to me. My reaction was to continue watching television, particularly the news, to see if this incident would be repeated. It was, many times, both on BBC and ITV. An intelligent person would have thought to obtain a video recorder and capture some of these incidents in order to try to explain to an observer what he saw in these broadcasts. Unfortunately, I failed this test of intelligence, since I did not record these programmes. I have recently attempted to obtain from ITN tapes of their news programmes dating back to summer 1990, but, unhappily, they have advised me that they do not have complete programmes including newsreaders comments dating back to that period.

From the outset, the persecutors structured their actions to ensure that any complaint would be met with disbelief, and dismissed as delusional. This is why they chose as their target someone who was known at school and university to be borderline mentally ill; and it is why they fired the first shots of their campaign through the broadcast media. Schizophrenics commonly believe the media harass them; it would be exceptional for "full-duplex television" to exist in reality. Those with schizophrenia also commonly believe people are talking about them; again, the persecutors have shown themselves very rarely, but act through intermediaries, both in the workplace, and in public and during travel.

Mental illness is not the cause of these claims, but the simulation of its symptoms is a cover used by the persecutors to deny their victim the ability to have his compaints believed.

What evidence exists to support these claims of "interactive television/radio";?

Quite frankly, I have very little evidence to support my claims. You may examine the "Evidence" area of my website to see such evidence as I have been able to gather. None of it is remotely conclusive. The "smoking guns" all date back to 1990/91, and it is really rather late now to start trying to look for material dating back seven or eight years. In 1997 I started tape-recording every programme I watched or listened to. I also started carrying with me a high-fidelity minidisc-recorder with good quality microphone to catch incidents of public harassment, but this also has not been as successful or conclusive as I had hoped.

Perhaps the best item in the "Evidence" section is the audio file "Life is so hard" (it is labelled with Garfield the cartoon character on the site), which I have given a certainty level of 100%. This item relates to harassment at my workplace in Canada in 1996. A co-worker called Mark was coming up with phrases and expressions which were repeating things being said at my Canadian residence, consequently leading me to believe that my apartment and home phone were bugged, and that the persecutors were passing their gathered information on to Mark. On one particular evening I said in my apartment, "life is so hard, and then you die". The following day I was able to record Mark saying exactly the same phrase at work.

Unfortunately when "they" know you are recording them, they simply dont say things which would unambiguously show harassment. When Mark the co-worker knew he was being recorded, he only made his remarks out of range of the recorder, for example outside the building. When the TV newscasters or radio disc jockeys know they are being taped, they limit themselves to saying things which are ambiguous, which even in my mind may or may not be personally directed against me.

Who knows about this persecution?

Surprisingly many people know. People in the media, such as BBC and ITN newscasters including Martyn Lewis and Michael Buerk, and radio disc jockeys such as Chris Tarrant of Capital Radio, know what is going on, and take part in it. Some co-workers at my former workplaces in England and Canada have known about the harassment. Quite a few people in the general public are also included. I believe the police are aware of the persecution, but, unfortunately, have chosen not to take any action to stop it. I have complained at my local police station in London several years ago, and I have stated on the internet newsgroups that I have done so, hence the police will be well aware of my wish to see the matter resolved. I believe their inaction denotes a dereliction of duty, but without good evidence, I am powerless to compel them to take steps to prevent further harassment, or deal with what has already taken place.

What is the purpose of sending these faxes?

These faxes are being sent to three distinct groups of people, namely Members of Parliament, the media, and diplomats & legal people. As you will have observed I am making use of the email-to-fax gateway at Demon Internet to send these faxes. I am forced to use this gateway since I currently live in North America, and cannot afford the high cost of direct phone calls to the UK.

My purpose in publicising my claims is firstly to discourage the persecutors from continuing their campaign, and also to attempt to bring their campaign out into the open, and thus perhaps identify the persecutors. Neither aim has been achieved yet, but I hope that with sufficient stimulation these aims may yet be accomplished.

The problem with the second aim is that those who read this article will fall into two groups, those who dont know anything about the persecution and consequently will disbelieve my claims as delusional, and those who do know about the harassment and may have some idea of who is behind it, but realise that if the harassers are exposed and the truth brought out into the open, then powerful British institutions will substantially lose prestige, and be exposed to ridicule.

It would give me hope to believe that these faxes will create a third group of people, those who find out that I am telling the truth, and who follow their consciences in standing up and seeing justice done. Only time will tell if this hope will be realized.

6187. MI5 Persecution: Why do you think MI5 are responsible? (8158)

Why do you think MI5 are responsible?

The question of who is ultimately responsible for this eight-year harassment is one which is very difficult to answer, as the persecutors have never clearly made their identities known to the persecutee. However, I believe I am correct in attributing the continuing victimisation to elements of the British Security Service MI5, and in this article, I will try to explain the reasons for this belief.

The British internet magazine ".net" featured my website on page 17 of their March 1998 issue (number 42). Their review kindly describes it as an "excellent site" and gives some details of what the net surfer will find there. Should you wish to reply to this article you can do so;

"When did you first suspect MI5 were responsible?"

Over Easter 1995 I went to see a local solicitor in London with a view to talking to the police about the harassment. Soon afterwards I did go to my local police station in Clapham and spoke to an officer there. The solicitor made a comment which suggested to me that the persecution I had been experiencing may have been organised by an intelligence service.

Up to this point, I did not have any clear idea as to who was behind the harassment. Only their agents were visible, in the media, on television news programmes, and on the radio; in the workplace, where things said at my home were repeated verbatim; and in some cases abuse in public and during travel, for example on the trip to Poland in June 1992 which I have already described.

Both from the fact that widely disparate individuals and organisations were employed as agents in the campaign against me, and from the fact that an entity would be required to marshal their resources in the areas of spying on my home and giving gathered information to their agents, it was clear to me that a single entity was responsible for carrying out the campaign. Yet from June 1990 until Easter 1995 I did not have a clear idea of who might be responsible. I guessed that perhaps some private individual or group of persons who saw themselves as my enemies had perhaps paid private detectives to organise the harassment. Alternatively, since the campaign had started in the media, I made a far-fetched supposition that perhaps it was an ad-hoc group of media people who had set themselves up in opposition to me. After Easter 1995 I saw that these guesses were wrong, and I made an I believe much more accurate estimate as to who my enemies really are.

There are several reasons why a private individual or group would not be behind this campaign.

Quantity of resources / Money. Here is what one Usenet (internet newsgroup) participant had to say (several years ago) on the topic of how much money it would cost just to keep the surveillance going.

PM: >But why? And why you? Do you realize how much it would cost to keep PM: >one person under continuous surveillance for five years? Think about PM: >all the man/hours. Say they _just_ allocated a two man team and a PM: >supervisor. OK., Supervisor's salary, say, #30,000 a year. Two men, PM: >#20,000 a year each. But they'd need to work in shifts -- so it would PM: >be six men at #20,000 (which with on-costs would work out at more like PM: >#30,000 to the employer.)
PM: >
PM: >So, we're talking #30,000 x 6. #180,000. plus say, #40,000 for the PM: >supervisor. #220,000. Then you've got the hardware involved. And PM: >any transcription that needs doing. You don't think the 'Big Boss' PM: >would listen to hours and hours of tapes, do you.
PM: >
PM: >So, all in all, you couldn't actually do the job for much less than PM: >a quarter million a year. Over five years. What are you doing that makes PM: >it worth the while of the state to spend over one and a quarter million PM: >on you?

A private individual or group would not spend over a million pounds to verbally torture a victim without some financial motive or gain. Private industry is driven by the profit motive, and there is no financial profit to be had from carrying out a campaign in this way. If a private enterprise were behind it then they would have taken direct physical action a long time ago.

State enterprises, on the other hand, can afford to be wasteful, since they are funded by the taxpayer. They do not have to show a money profit. The employees or contractors employed by a state organisation such as MI5 are driven by their own personal profit motives, to make the most money out of their employers for the longest period of time. MI5 is funded to the tune of #150M p.a.; even a few hundred thousand a year would to them be affordable if their managers could convince themselves of the necessity of what they were doing.

Quality of resources / Technical resources - electronic and other surveillance. In summer 1994 a reputable and competent private detective agency was employed to conduct a counter-surveillance sweep of my home in London. They charged us over #400 for this, conducted a thorough search for radio transmitting devices, hard-wired "probe" microphones and also tested the telephone line. They found nothing. This was not altogether surprising, since it had been made very clear to me that there were bugs in my home; the "buggers" would not have made this clear unless they had felt their bugs were of sufficient sophistication as to be safe from detection.

But there is another lesson to be gained from the failure of the private detectives to find anything. The agency employed was one of the most reputable in London. They were employed on the principle of "setting a thief to catch a thief", for if the harassment were being carried out by private detectives, as I then believed, then surely another set of private detectives would be able to find the bugs that they had planted. That these "private eyes" were unable to find anything, and that the harassers were confident that they would not be able to find any bugs, points to the harassers being an order of sophistication above a private agency, and leads me again to believe that a state intelligence service is responsible for the surveillance and harassment.

Quality of resources / Technical resources - Interception of Postal service. In summer 1994 when I emigrated to Canada to try to escape the harassment, I wrote letters home to my family and friends in London. Quite soon after my arrival in Canada, the harassers were able to find precisely where I was staying. The only way I can see of "their" being able to find out my new address was by interception of my letters to the UK.

Later in 1994, I conducted an experiment to see if my letters home were indeed being read. In a letter home I wrote of being depressed and talked in vague terms of suicide. I deliberately chose this topic, since I believed it was the outcome my harassers were trying to achieve, and that if they read the letter, they would "echo" its contents. Sure enough, soon afterwards there were two incidents of people shouting "suicide" at me in public places in Canada.

It is inconceivable for a private agency to have the ability to intercept postal mail. The state security service on the other hand is well known to engage in these activities.

Quality of resources / Access to Media. One of the strangest aspects of this case is the access "they" have to the broadcast and print media. I still do not understand what could persuade newscasters such as Martyn Lewis and Michael Buerk, who consider themselves "gentlemen", to behave in an almost voyeuristic way by "peeking" into the living room of one of their viewers. A year ago I wrote to the BBC asking if these newscasters would confirm or deny the accusations made against them. The BBC replied that their newscasters had denied the accusations, but refused to do so in writing.

It is well known that MI5 have the ability to plant stories in certain newspapers, but convincing television newscasters to "watch" a viewer while they read the news would surely be very difficult for them to accomplish, unless they presented themselves to these journalists as being, for example, a group in the media who were seeing to it that I got my "deserved" treatment. MI5 has a history of manipulating the media, so it might not be too difficult for them to accomplish such a trick, whereas a private group would not have this ability.

"Have they ever denied that they are the Security Service?"

No. Never. This is in fact the main reason why I believe "they" are MI5 and not a privately funded group. If my guess had been wrong then I am sure that "they" would have crowed over my mistake, but they have never admitted nor denied that they are employees of MI5.

In early January 1996 I flew on a British Airways jet from London to Montreal; also present on the plane, about three or four rows behind me, were two young men, one of them fat and voluble, the other silent. It was quite clear that these two had been planted on the aircraft to "wind me up". The fat youth described the town in Poland where I had spent Christmas, and made some unpleasant personal slurs against me. Most interestingly, he said the words, "he doesnt know who we are".

Now I find this particular form of words very interesting, because while it is not a clear admission, it is only a half-hearted attempt at denial of my guess that "they" = "MI5". Had my guess been wrong, the fat youth would surely have said so more clearly.

"If MI5 were behind it, why would they wish to mask their involvement?"

I have heard a number of times a belief from people in the media that it is they, the media people, who are behind the abuse. In spring 1994 Chris Tarrant the Capital Radio D.J. said sarcastically on his breakfast show, "You know this bloke? he says were trying to kill him. We should be done for attempted manslaughter". We, we, we. Tarrant thought it was a media conspiracy.

Returning to the question of "interactive watching" by television newscasters, it would again be much easier for them to take part in that sort of activity if they convinced themselves that the surveillance and abuse were organised by "their own", by media people. It must be second nature to MI5 to mask their involvement in the matters they deal with; in this case, they pretend the campaign is organised by a group in the media, and any journalists who suspect otherwise keep their silence.

Conclusion

Over the last three years I have stated with some force my belief that MI5 are responsible for my misfortunes. I have done so on Internet newsgroups, in letters and faxes to people in politics and the media in the UK, and in 1997 I made a formal complaint to MI5 regarding their activities; the Security Service Tribunal replied in June 1997 that "no determination in your favour has been made on your complaint". (I believe the statement by the Security Service Tribunal can be disregarded, as they have never, ever made a ruling in favour of a complainant.) In three years of naming MI5 as my oppressor "they" have never denied the charge. To me, their silence on this point indicates that my guess was accurate. I believe my persecutors stand identified. The question of why they should carry out this campaign is one I will try to answer in a future article.

MI5 Persecution Update: Friday 15 May, 1998

The persecution has been quite severe for the last week. It appears that my enemies are reacting to the steady stream of faxes making their way over the Atlantic to the fax machines of Westminster politicians and the media. Here is whats happened in the last few days;

The week started off with an incident in the cafeteria at a local shopping centre where I habitually drink my morning coffee. My enemies have concentrated since winter 1995/96 on throwing a particularly horrible sexual slander against me. They "put people up" to repeat this slander against me, and this is what happened again here.

On Thursday morning (yesterday), instead of going to the usual cafeteria I went to a nearby convenience store for coffee. The same horrible sexual slander was shouted at me very loudly by a member of staff as I walked into the store. This was the first time I had ever bought morning coffee in that shop. The other staff obviously knew what was going on, one of them said, "they screwed up my life".

The fax gateway I use to send these faxes to the UK has been working hard these last few days to shut down my access by barring the accounts I use to send these faxes.

I have received an anonymous threat from fax number 0171-219-6101 (the machine gave its name as "ETRA-HoC") which said, "Stop sending to this fax no 0171-219-6101 or else" (the consequences of continued transmission were unspecified). I invited the sender to apologise for his threat, but received no response.

This all adds up to quite a severe reaction to my faxes of the last few weeks. I actually find this quite heartening since it shows that my faxes are finding the mark and there may yet be a breakthrough in my efforts to expose the Security Service conpiracy of abuse against me which has now been going on for eight years.

MI5 Persecution: "Why would they be doing this to you, sir?"

This article will concentrate on the difficult question of "Why". The question which forms the title of this piece was asked of me by the police officer I spoke to in Easter 1995, when I went to make my complaint.

There are really two sides to this question. Firstly, why should MI5 be harassing anybody in this fashion? Secondly, if they choose to behave in this way, why should they have selected me in particular, and not somebody else? Alternatively, why did the persecution start, and why is it continuing?

I do not have definite answers to either side of this question, since my persecutors have usually kept themselves hidden and only acted through other parties. To know "why", one would have to know who the persecutors are, and something of their personalities, since their abuse is almost certainly symptomatic of a personality disorder of the abusers. Certain things however can be deduced about the abusers from the nature of their behaviour, and I will talk about this later in the article.

Why did it start?

It is clear that the persecution must have been initiated by someone who knew me personally, either at school, or at university, or socially, and knew that I was borderline mentally ill, since this is what makes me a target for the persecutors. Unfortunately, the originators have never been identified, and there are several possible candidates. Neither has the link from the originators of the persecution, to the persecutors themselves, ever been made clear. So who are the originators?

University Staff

The identity of the originators may lie in the timing of the persecution. It started in June 1990, while I was finishing a course at Imperial College in London, and a year after I graduated from Cambridge, where I received a degree in computer science. At Cambridge I had achieved some notoriety in the computer lab from various nefarious exploits. Roger Needham attacked me by saying that "there were great hopes for it, but it failed terribly". When I started at Imperial I found that my reputation had preceded me; Cambridge computer lab had spoken to I.C. lecturers about me. I.C. lecturer Frank McCabe summed up commenting about "setting up a straw man so you can tear him down". (Despite being "torn down" by the Cambridge computer labs lecturers, I still achieved a good first degree and a Masters degree at Imperial.)

Other students at university

So, the originators may have been university staff who knew me from my student days. But there are other possibilities. I had other enemies at university, including some fellow students. At my Cambridge college it was common knowledge that my mental health was dubious, and it was known that I talked to myself in my sleep - the floor and walls were quite permeable to noise, so other students heard. I was given the nickname "gibber" because of this habit. Sometime later, I managed to catch myself talking in my sleep when I woke up in the middle of the night.

Here is a quote from a participant in the internet newsgroup where I have been posting for the last three years;

>One thing which has been missing from this discussion is this simple >prognosis: that maybe he is right and that, despite his admitted >mental condition, there really is a campaign against him organised by >now-influential ex-students of his university.

People I knew socially

I had yet other enemies in 1990 (I am a man of many enemies!). In January 1990 I broke up with some people I had been going out with socially. One of them, by the name of Andy Turner, wrote a letter to Alan Freeman, who at the time was a Radio 1 DJ. Freeman read part of the letter out on his Rock Show, about the "one who wore out his welcome with random precision", saying "thats a hell of a letter you wrote there Andy", and "with a schizophrenic youre never alone".

It is my belief that Andy Turner and his friends were trying to make trouble for me, and Turner wrote to Freeman with this in mind. Freeman may have discussed the letter with others, and things may have snowballed from there. This is, of course, pure supposition. The fact is that I do not know who the originators are, and can only guess.

Once it started, why is it continuing?

The answer to this question is obvious. It is unacceptable to the "powers that be" in the UK to have somebody running around who knows he has been targeted by the Security Service and media organizations, and who is in a position to embarrass British institutions. This has become particularly evident in the last week; as I send more faxes to UK politicians and media, so the pressure on me grows, and the volume of abuse increases.

Part of the reason the persecution continues is in the personalities of the abusers, and it is this subject to which I will turn to next, since the key to understanding the persecution lies in understanding those who carry it out, as much as we can.

The Security Service operatives, the persecutors, are they psychopaths?

Let us first examine the definition of the term "psychopath". DSM-IV defines "anti-social personality disorder" as a "pattern of disregard for and violation of the rights of others ... deceitfulness, irritability and aggressiveness ... consistent irresponsibility and lack of remorse". The Harvard Mental Health Letter of Sept 1995 describes these people as using "charm, manipulation, intimidation and violence to control others and satisfy their own needs. Lacking in conscience and in feelings for others, they cold-bloodedly take what they want and do as they please", having "no guilt or regret".

I must say, reading this description of the condition, that it fits the persecutors perfectly. The persecutors have never shown the slightest remorse or guilt. Even when I was severely ill, they continued to abuse me. They have repeatedly blamed their actions on me, which is another trait common amongst psychopaths. They have no respect for my legal or personal rights, and they use intimidation and verbal violence.

If the MI5 operatives are psychopaths then it would explain both why the persecution started, and the degree of verbal violence. Psychopaths by definition damage other people; here, the MI5 operatives find an outlet for their personality disorder, through "cripple-kicking".

Xenophobia on the basis of mental illness, and race

My enemies have made clear many times that one of the reasons they are persecuting me is because of my admitted mental illness. However, it is my belief that they are also persecuting me because I am not of ethnic English origin, and the fact that there have been several incidents of an overtly racist nature reinforces this view.

In one case, two youths on a tube train in London made openly racist references to me as a "soft toy, not up to British Standards". Another person near my home made remarks about "Polish people". In yet another incident in Croydon, a youth made comments about "foreigners".

But the main thrust of their xenophobia is because of my mental illness. I should make clear that I do not look ill; if you met me, you would not know that I had the illness. I take a relatively low dose of medication, and feel quite well. But the persecutors have repeatedly harped on about my supposed serious mental illness; they have called me a "nutter", a "schizophrenic", etc. They have also persuaded other people to use these terms of abuse. They are able to get away with this because abusing the mentally ill is still something which is mostly acceptable in Britain; the media do it, "nutter" is not taboo in the way that "nigger" is.

Conclusion

There are several groups of people who might have wished to cause me trouble, and I still do not know who originated the persecution. Nor do I know how the originators came to be in contact with the (presumed) Security Service operatives who have been carrying out the campaign. To know conclusively why it started, we would have to know who started it, and this information is not available.

However, we can infer some things about the personalities of the persecutors from their methods, and from the degree of verbal violence they employ. It is clear that a main reason for the continuing harassment is the psychopathic disorder of the MI5 agents who carry it out. That they have never been "brought to book" for their misdeeds reinforces their belief that they do no wrong; and, unhappily, until they are brought to book, their persecution campaign looks set to continue.

MI5 Persecution: .net Magazine Applauds my Website

The March 1998 issue (number 42) of .net Magazine reviews the MI5 Persecution website describing it as an "excellent site". The webpages describe in detail the nature of my persecution since 1990 by what are believed to be elements of the UK security service.

(snip image)

You are encouraged to read the web pages which include

o a FAQ section outlining the nature of the persecutors, their methods of harassment through the media, people at work and among the general public o an evidence section, which carries audio and video clips of media and workplace harassment, rated according to how directly I think they refer to me
o factual descriptions of the state security agencies involved
o scanned texts of the complaints I have made to media and state security agencies involved
o posts which have been made to netnews over the last three years on this topic

I got one question. Why do you NEVER see any Asian people in the food stamp and welfare line?

Why are welfare recipients mostly in this order?

1. FAT Black Women(Shaquita)
2. FAT Hispanic Women (Carmen and Roseita)
3. FAT White Women (Bertha and Gertrude)

Anybody wonder why Asian and Indian women are never in the welfare line???

Just curious

Mark get help for your obsession with me, why allege that you are being harrassed, then flood the group with questions for me. What do you want Mark. You can't ask me questions, then when I respond to your buffonery, allege that I am harrassing you. Why do you keep Really Mark, the more you post the more your symptoms keep surfacing, your short term memory loss, babbling incoherently, delusions, and obsessing about other people and your sexual orientation will catch up with you. Eventually you will lose control, and your mental disease will manifest itself to something much harder to treat, seek help Mr. Morgan while .

Mark's symptoms....

1. Short term memory issues. Mark will post a bizarre tirade, and when you ask him about it, he says he can't recall posting such.

2. Babbles incoherently in his posting. He obviously wants to communicate, but he is unable to do so in a manner which reflects a normal thought process and rational thinking.

3. He raves on and on flooding RRAP and the Nimbusters Ham Board with "dloyd" posts, and on his blog he enters posts focused entirely on "dloyd." Mr. Morgan, obviously has a fixation disorder.

4. Mr. Morgan has delusions that "dloyd" is everywhere on the net posting about him, and all posts that critique his behavior over the last 10 years were all authored by "dloyd."

Get help Mark soon before it is too late.....

Did you not say you reported K3VR to child protective services, at least that is what my disc copy of the board says (thank you Stan), or are you now back peddling, and in fact you did not call CPS? Which is it Mr. Morgan? Perhaps, another one of your charades again?

6310. Mark, your mental symptoms are getting worse, Seek help KB9RQZ.

"I hold no malice toward Mr Crow I wish to left alone i wish an end to the endless rounds of harreasment and libel foaud and forgery that Dloyd et al is ina legal sense up to his neck in"

Mark. simple solution I recommended sevearl times, stop engaging me, stop flooding the groups, stop accusing folks of things they haven't done, most of all, ignore me and my posts, and I will do the same.

There is no "dloyd et al", there is no conspriacy. Very simple solution Mark.

Been gone for a week on vacation and it is exceptionally quiet in here.

I found a way to forward the spamming posts to all of the different isp's...
I guess it might take a while for them to get rid of these jerks!

Seek help Mr. Morgan, why do you laud false charges at an innocent ham, and then allege someone made you do it. Take responsibility for your actions, I'm sure that if you cause any harm, your victim will ensure that you face up to your misdeed.

The whole puncing scene would make a good OTDF podcast. Would you be interested?

Tell Gavi I wish him good luck with his blog.

I agree, it is a total waste...the code was the last barrier of intelligence which weeded out people who should not be in the ARS.
The nocode license is the begining of a long and slow death for the ARS. Mr. Morgan is a prime example, he knows nothing of SIMPLE theory, he had to read about grounding in an amplifier owners manual before he knew the importance of grounding a radio stations. His kind wil be the death of the ARS, in 50 years the ARSt will be a memory of the good old days of radio.

Mark how can I escalate anything further, when I haven't done anything but respond to your kookery, I can't be everywhere and everyone all the time, and I certainly did not send you a message.

Seek help Mr. Morgan, give the users of this group a break.

On Tuesday, November 27, 2007, Mark Morgan posted a forged email, allegedly sent through his blog to threaten his father. It could be found at http://khkb9rqz.blogspot.com/2007/11/dloyd-lavies-has-sent-you-link-to-blog.html

"you will withdraw your false allagtion at once or your father will suffer

"he was a school teacher and will be denouced asan abuser of his students during his teaching days"

Clearly, the words "allagation," "denouced," and "asan" are all typical of Markie-speak and are seen in no one else's posts. It appears that Mark is anxious to change the subject for some reason, and so he invented a threat against his father.

The reason that Mark wants to change the subject is the very real fact that Mark has foolishly reported Brian Crow, K3VR, to Child Protection Services in both Pennsylvania and in Florida. Mark has decided that Mr. Crow is a sexual abuser of children and has therefore made two (false) reports according to Mark's own blog posts at http://khkb9rqz.blogspot.com.

Mark's tortured "logic" has led him to conclude that someone with the nym "Dloyd Lavies" is in fact Mr. Crow, and hence to make the (false) reports. If Mr. Morgan knew anything at all about how Google and the Internet work, he would know that Dloyd Lavies and Brian Crow live in two different parts of the country. Google posts contain an NNTP-Posting-Host header that can only belong to either the original posting host or to a proxy server. It is simple enough to determine which is which, but it is quite beyond the capabilities of Mr. Morgan to do so.

As a result he has made a terrible mistake, and compounded it with two false accusations to the authorities.

Finally, Mark's time has come.

a.. K3VR,
NO. The MAIN problem is right here in the USA. All those Jammers and idiots are the real problem. I know you are after KFM as a personal Vendetta, but the truth is, your time would be better spent helping to hunt down your fellow hams this side of the border that are creating the QRM and willful interference.
Now, You'll probably come after me AGAIN for saying this, but I have to question anyone that opens a website using someone else's call.
Oh yeah, please do NOT threaten me this time, like the last time..
BTW, I don't think Riley has the same high opinion of you as YOU claim!!
So, if you want to make 275 better, start with you and then start listening to your friends and neighbors. Once we get all those guys behind bars, we can move on. [Ed.: Ex abundanti cautela, Brian CROW K3VR should go 1st.]
Next, Stop hosting a website using someone else's call sign.

How would you respond if I hosted a website named K3VR.COM and then just trashed you Maybe that is what KFM should consider .... Perhaps..

6461. Mark forges an email threat against his father - shame on him

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy

On Tuesday, November 27, 2007, Mark Morgan posted a forged email, allegedly sent through his blog to threaten his father. It could be found at http://khkb9rqz.blogspot.com/2007/11/dloyd-lavies-has-sent-you-link-to-blog.html

In reality, the email was forged by Mark himself, as can be seen by examining the email. It said:

"you will withdraw your false allagtion at once or your father will suffer

"he was a school teacher and will be denouced asan abuser of his students during his teaching days"

Clearly, the words "allagation," "denouced," and "asan" are all typical of Markie-speak and are seen in no one else's posts. It appears that Mark is anxious to change the subject for some reason, and so he invented a threat against his father.

The reason that Mark wants to change the subject is the very real fact that Mark has foolishly reported Brian Crow, K3VR, to Child Protection Services in both Pennsylvania and in Florida. Mark has decided that Mr. Crow is a sexual abuser of children and has therefore made two (false) reports according to Mark's own blog posts at http://khkb9rqz.blogspot.com.

Mark's tortured "logic" has led him to conclude that someone with the nym "Dloyd Lavies" is in fact Mr. Crow, and hence to make the (false) reports. If Mr. Morgan knew anything at all about how Google and the Internet work, he would know that Dloyd Lavies and Brian Crow live in two different parts of the country. Google posts contain an NNTP-Posting-Host header that can only belong to either the original posting host or to a proxy server. It is simple enough to determine which is which, but it is quite beyond the capabilities of Mr. Morgan to do so.

As a result he has made a terrible mistake, and compounded it with two false accusations to the authorities.

Finally, Mark's time has come.

Finally, someone with a brain. Mark is so convinced that I have forged headers to "hide", that I could possibly be anyone, but in fact I have never attempted to forge anything. Unlike Mark, I don't hide behind NG posting services. I've repeatedly told Mark that I am not Mr. Crow, or any of the other personalities that he accuses me of being, but as usual, Mark's twisted logic, and lack of knowledge of the net will not let him see the truth. Mark likes jumping to conclusions, as the archives reveal, Mark has basically wrongly accused someone of doing something every week for the past several years.

Now Mark has taken his unfounded twisted accusations one step futher, and has falsely accused an innocent person of a horrible crime, and reported such to the authorities, even though he was told repeatedly BEFORE he acted that I was not Mr. Crow and Mr. Crow was not posting. However, Mark's entire claim is based upon his twisted view of the world, he apparently believe's that it is abuse to tell young children to stay away from gays and bi-sexuals, therefore doing such is an illegal act. I have a news flash for you Mark, they teach this same doctrine of thinking in many Sunday Schools thoughout the South.

Mark, you may not like it, but there is nothing wrong or illegal about folks telling their kin to stay away from twisted folks like you. Get over it, you need to stop making accusations without any proof.

Dloyd

That's funny Mark, I am still waiting for you to prove any of the lies you rant about.

So why don't you prove something for once....let see, prove that I created the link to send email from your blog...that is your latest rant, so your proof that I did this little feat should be easily posted to RRAP? I challenge you to prove it...

Of course I am already expecting you to give some lame excuse or smart

6536. mark is incensed

Mark Morgan, KB9RQZ said,
"the despictable ature of such a threat is beyod words they and spelllingg them compllletely fails me at this point" but when he posts his cruel comments about Steve's beloved daughter and says, "what attack ? after all he claims he is not attacking me or my family when he posts lies about me where is the attack in posting the truth that he sired a defective daughter and failed to prevent her worthless existance in the womb at least these things are true if Stve is telling the truth about her on his websie" there is nothing.."

Mark knows ALL about being despicable. He perfected it on Usenet.

--
I'd love to have heard Mark's CW operation during a Sweepstakes 'test. I'll bet is sounded like someone falling down a flight of stairs with a keyer and a Scrabble game.

Mark can't prove his own parentage, much less show posts in which you did as he accuses. Don't humor him, Dloyd. Let him whine. His immaturity is yet again showing.
OH, and Mark's blog is fast becoming the laughingstock of the Web. The visitors to that blog can't believe that it is for real. Many believe that it is a spoof site that is put up for laughs!
It IS funny, but Mark sure as shootin' didn't intend for it to be so.

Speaking of shootin', I best get busy with the Hoppe's #9 and scrub my Glock. I shot some homebrew, cast bullet loads from it this afternoon and the fast twist rifling can sometimes scrape lead from the bullets as they exit. I cast the bullets as hard as I can and they work well, but cleaning is always the order of the day after such a session.

6626. A Different Christmas Poem

Newsgroup: rec.radio.amateur.policy
Date: 2007-11-29 21:17:08 UTC
From: John Doe <hgorden@adelphia.net>
Message-ID: <Lf-dnbKxtM7XsdLanZ2dnUVZ_gydnZ2d@adelphia.com>
Source record: 201564

The embers glowed softly, and in their dim light, I gazed round the room and I cherished the sight.

My wife was asleep, her head on my chest, My daughter beside me, angelic in rest.

Outside the snow fell, a blanket of white, transforming the yard to a winter delight.

The sparkling lights in the tree I believe, Completed the magic that was Christmas Eve.

My eyelids were heavy, my breathing was deep, Secure and surrounded by love I would sleep.

In perfect contentment, or so it would seem, So I slumbered, perhaps I started to dream.

The sound wasn't loud, and it wasn't too near, But I opened my eyes when it tickled my ear.

Perhaps just a cough, I didn't quite know, Then the sure sound of footsteps outside in the snow.

My soul gave a tremble, I struggled to hear, And I crept to the door just to see who was near.

Standing out in the cold and the dark of the night, A lone figure stood, his face weary and tight.

A soldier, I puzzled, some twenty years old, Perhaps a Marine, huddled here in the cold.

Alone in the dark, he looked up and smiled, Standing watch over me, and my wife and my child.

"What are you doing?" I asked without fear, "Come in this moment, it's freezing out here! Put down your pack, brush the snow from your sleeve, You should be at home on a cold Christmas Eve!"

For barely a moment I saw his eyes shift, Away from the cold and the snow blown in drifts..

To the window that danced with a warm fire's light then he sighed and he said "Its really all right, I'm out here by choice. I'm here every night."

"It's my duty to stand at the front of the line, That separates you from the darkest of times.

No one had to ask or beg or implore me, I'm proud to stand here like my fathers before me.

My Gramps died at Pearl on a day in December, Then he sighed, "That's a Christmas 'Gram always remembers."

My dad stood his watch in the jungles of Nam, And now it is my turn and so, here I am.

I've not seen my own son in more than a while, But my wife sends me pictures, he's sure got her smile.

Then he bent and he carefully pulled from his bag, The red, white, and blue... an American flag.

"I can live through the cold and the being alone, Away from my family, my house and my home."

"I can stand at my post through the rain and the sleet, I can sleep in a foxhole with little to eat.

I can carry the weight of killing another, Or lay down my life with my sister and brother.."

"Who stand at the front against any and all, To ensure for all time that this flag will not fall.

So go back inside," he said, "harbor no fright, Your family is waiting and I'll be all right."

"But isn't there something I can do, at the least, Give you money," I asked, "or prepare you a feast?

It seems all too little for all that you've done, For being away from your wife and your son."

Then his eye welled a tear that held no regret, "Just tell us you love us, and never forget.

To fight for our rights back at home while we're gone, To stand your own watch, no matter how long."

"For when we come home, either standing or dead, To know you remember we fought and we bled.

Is payment enough, and with that we will trust,
That we mattered to you as you mattered to us."

PLEASE, Would you do me the kind favor of sending this to as many people as you can? Christmas will be coming soon and some credit is due to our U.S.service men and women for our being able to celebrate these festivities. Let's try in this small way to pay a tiny bit of what we owe. Make people stop and think of our heroes, living and dead, who sacrificed themselves for us.

Mark, I can't lie about my grandkids, I don't have any...Fool. Don't get mad at me because you were just foolish enough to let your mind run away with you, it is not my responsibility to correct your asumptions. Like the farmer says, plant a seed and watch it grow...and odd things do grow in your "mind field".
